New Financing Setup Urged For Schools

Ohio Study Committee Suggests Changes In Foundation Program

COLUMBUS (AP)—A special subcommittee studying school financing has submitted a new state school foundation program to the Ohio School Survey Committee.

The new plan, major feature of the subcommittee's extensive report, is a "one package bill," which would abolish all special appropriations for public schools and consolidate them into one appropriation.

The committee said this will give the General Assembly a more accurate picture of its total provision for schools and also reduce administrative costs.

The study group found Ohio's present school financing program strong in some respects and weak in many others. Their report includes 20 specific recommendations on school financing.

The basic difference in the new foundation plan is that costs would be calculated in terms of teacher or classroom units rather than pupil units, for every element of the program except transportation.

THE COMMITTEE said advantages of the plan include (1) better measurement of real educational costs; (2) easier calculation of cost in terms of services; and (3) more assurance to the Legislature that all pupils are receiving the benefits of the program.

Foundation costs under the plan include four major categories:

(1) Costs for teacher salaries calculated in terms of "allowable teacher units," and the salary allotment schedule; (2) transportation costs calculated to include allowance for equipment depreciation and for unavoidable local variations in transportation costs; (3) costs for other current expenses calculated under a uniform allowance, based on average costs, per teacher unit; and (4) Costs for capital outlay calculated in terms of a uniform allowance per teacher unit based on average building depreciation costs. The committee recommends this amount be calculated by multiplying the total number of teaching units by $600.

Local share of the cost of the foundation program combined total of the four categories would be determined by multiplying the district's assessed valuation by a millage of approximately 10 mills set by the General Assembly. The state's share would be the difference between the local share and the total cost.

Grandma Doss Named As Slayer Of Fifth Person

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP)—A fifth charge of murder was filed yesterday against grandmother Nannie Doss, who confessed to poisoning four of her five husbands.

Ernest J. Harrelson, brother of the dead man, signed a first degree murder warrant after Pate disclosed arsenic had been found in the organs of Frank Harrelson.

Murder charges against Mrs. Doss have been filed in these:

Arle Lanning, husband No. 3, who died in 1952.

Richard Morton, husband No. 4, who died in 1953.

Samuel Doss, husband No. 5, who died in 1954.

Mrs. Louise H. Hazel, 75, mother of Mrs. Doss, who died in 1953.

Christmas Memories

A Scrapbook Compiled by Clark Kinnaird

A CENTURY ago, a question of a king started a search for the name of the anonymous originators of the beloved song, Silent Night. When the king of Prussia heard the song in December, 1854 and asked the name of the composer, no one could tell him immediately. The music had been published without credit to the men who had written the words and music. Months passed before researchers were able to answer the king's question.

The words had been written by Fr. Joseph Mohr, the parish priest at Oberdorf, Austria, on Christmas eve, 1818. They had been set to music by the church's organist, Franz Gruber, and sung for the first time in the church the next day. The organ got out of fix before the Christmas service and Gruber played the accompaniment on a guitar. Gruber was found to be alive, and he confirmed the story of the song's origin. He lived until 1862.

Of numerous translations of Fr. Mohr's words into English, the following is the most popular. The translator is as anonymous as Gruber was when the German king asked his question in 1854.

SILENT NIGHT

Silent night, Holy night!
All is calm, all is bright.
'Round yon Virgin Mother and Child
Holy Infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace—
Sleep in heavenly peace!

Silent night, Holy night!
Shepherds quake at the sight!
Glories stream from heaven afar,
Heav'nly hosts sing Alleluia;
Christ the Saviour is born,
Christ the Saviour is born!

Silent night, Holy night!
Son of God, loves pure light,
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth.

State Prepares Sheppard Attack

Accused Doctor Tells Jury He Couldn't Possibly Have Killed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard braced himself today for the state's attack on his emphatic assertion he did not kill his wife, and that "I couldn't have done such a thing."

He says he was happily married to Marilyn Sheppard. And he feels sure that "Marilyn is in my corner."

But one name, Susan Hayes, still confronts the dark, good-looking osteopath. Miss Hayes, a laboratory technician, has admitted having intimate relations with him for more than a year.

For a day and a half, Sheppard testified in his own defense against a charge of first-degree murder. He made only brief references to

Miss Hayes. He said his wife was not disturbed when he told her he had given Miss Hayes a watch.

Prosecution attorneys are ready to cross-question Sheppard's whole story. The state contends he murdered his wife last July 4 and that his motive grew out of his extramarital relations.

MARILYN SHEPPARD, a 31-year-old expectant mother, was beaten to death in bed. The doctor, 30, testified he ran to the bedroom when he heard her cries, and was slugged unconscious by the killer.

He says Cleveland detectives accused him of the murder in the first stages of the investigation. He described one grilling that lasted nearly 3 hours, conducted by four pairs of officers.

They tried to break down his story, he told the jury.

Sheppard said the detectives tried to confuse him, cursed him and insulted his family, and mentioned "accomplices." They expressed doubt, he said, that he was the father of his unborn child.

And in trying to talk him into a confession, he said, they discussed light prison sentences sometimes given for a plea of manslaughter, a lesser charge than first-degree murder.

"I told them I couldn't confess to something I didn't do," he said. In a graphic pantomime, Sheppard showed the jury how a detective simulated the terrible blows that were rained on Marilyn's head.

He rolled a piece of long yellow paper into a cylinder and said of the officer:

"He'd put his hands over his head like this . . ." Sheppard raised the paper club with both hands. "And bring them down like this. . . ."

"AND HE WOULD say, 'down down, down, down, down!' Sheppard shouted the word five times, each time with a simulated blow.

"I told him I didn't do it," he continued. "I told him I couldn't do it to any human or animal. I told him I couldn't possibly have done such a thing under any circumstances."

Another officer, he said, asked him how he could go through the ordeal of a trial.

"I told him that I still had faith in the truth and I had faith in God and Marilyn was with me," Sheppard said he replied.

He said he felt sure "Marilyn is in my corner."

Navy Launches Its Big Carrier, USS Forrestal

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The Navy today dramatized its bid for a major combat role in this jet-age by formally launching the giant aircraft carrier Forrestal, biggest warship ever built.

The still unfinished Forrestal awaited a christening ceremony at which Mrs. James Forrestal, widow of the first secretary of defense, was scheduled to break the traditional bottle of champagne against the towering stem of the 1,036-foot carrier.

The big ship (she will displace 59,600 tons without fuel, ammunition, planes or stores and probably 76,000 tons fully loaded) is designed to carry atomic bombers on far-ranging missions.

The Forrestal also is the costliest combatant ship ever—$197,869,000 when fully fitted with anti-aircraft weapons, electronic equipment and other gear. This does not include the estimated cost of planes for the carrier—about $175 million.

Herald Begins Yule Feature

The widely known writer, Clark Kinnaird, has written a series of 12 pre-Christmas features for The Herald.

They are titled, "Christmas Memories," and the first of the series appears on Page One of today's issue.

The material has been prepared in attractive scrapbook form, all ready for clipping by those who want to save the authoritative and interesting information on mankind's greatest celebration. Today's scrapbook piece deals with the origin of the beloved song, "Silent Night," and how the name of the composer was nearly lost to history.

Dem Solon Set To Open Fire

Gore 'Tired' Of Ike's 'Bad Advice' Excuse

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today he is "tired of excusing" some of President Eisenhower's actions on grounds of "bad advice."

Gore said this in endorsing a call by Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, for criticism of Eisenhower, but without "vilification."

Butler, a South Bend, Ind., lawyer picked in New Orleans last week to succeed Stephen A. Mitchell as head of the Democratic committee, told its first Washington news conference yesterday:

"I will never vilify the President, as Sen. McCarthy has this week, but all the roars of Chairman Hall and other Republicans will not deter me from calling attention to the failures of the President."

Butler referred here to McCarthy's statement earlier this week in which he accused Eisenhower of a "shrinking of weakness" in dealing with communism.

HE ALSO REFERRED to GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall's retort last Monday to a Butler remark that Eisenhower had shown "a lack of capacity" to lead. Hall said that Butler's criticism meant the Democrats had "thrown in the ash can" their pledge to cooperate with the President.

Gore said he concurs fully in the course charted by Butler.

"Most of us criticize the actions and the record of the President of the United States with reluctance," Gore said, "but our system of government will fail unless those holding office are held responsible for the actions of their administration."

"I, for one, have reached the point where I am tired of excusing some of the President's actions on the ground that he has received bad advice. He, himself, must be held responsible for what his administration does."

Mitchell Urges Ohio Poll Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, says there should be "a full Senate investigation" of the Hamilton County election in Ohio.

Supporters of Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D-Ohio), who was defeated in the Nov. 2 election, have charged there were irregularities in Hamilton County tabulations.

George H. Bender, Cleveland Republican, ran up a 37,296-vote plurality in Hamilton County. A partial recount in Hamilton and 24 other counties cut Bender's victory margin from 6,041 to 2,970. The Hamilton County results were not changed materially.

Yet, Mrs. Doerr believes that Santa Claus will find a way to visit them.

Gen. Van Fleet Withdraws All Support Of McCarthy

AUBURNDALE, Fla. (AP)—Gen. Van Fleet has broken with Sen. Joseph McCarthy over the Wisconsin senator's statement against President Eisenhower.

Van Fleet, who was a member of the committee which went after (and failed to get) 10 million signatures of persons backing McCarthy in his fight against the U. S. Senate, sent McCarthy a telegram yesterday renouncing his support.

The telegram said: "I am shocked by your bitter attack against the President of the United States, a full copy of which I have read today on arrival home."

"In the past, I have supported you in your fight against international communism but never have agreed with your methods. This last attack on our great President causes me to withdraw all support."

Van Fleet, former commander of the 8th Army in Korea, said he considered McCarthy's talks during the hearing "insulting and blistering."

He said that McCarthy had done some good, adding:

"I'm against communism. He's against communism. So that has alone given him my support. But I cannot stand for his attack on the President."

Van Fleet was listed as committeeman in the "10,000,000 Americans mobilized for Justice." General chairman of the drive was Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer of Winter Park, Fla., retired Far East Air Force Commander. Director of the drive was retired Adm. John G. Crommelin.

The committee reported it failed by far to get ten million backers for McCarthy. Instead, it collected 2,281,143 signatures against the U. S. Senator. The Senate voted by three to one to condemn McCarthy for his behavior.

Lima Man, 22, Killed Trying To Halt Tavern Holdup

LIMA (AP)—A 22-year-old Lima man was killed last night when he tried to prevent a $2,000 holdup of a south side tavern.

Dead is John Rogery Mooney, an Army veteran. Officers said Mooney turned on one gunman in an attempt to take his gun after three masked men entered the cafe about midnight.

Mooney was one of five customers in the tavern when the gunmen entered, two wearing handkerchiefs over their faces. The third wore a black hood.

Investigators said the hooded man ordered customers and bartender Philip L. Martino to sit on bar stools. After that order, Mooney lunged for one of the men's weapons and was shot twice.

Police said the three men then emptied the cash register, stripped customers of their cash and escaped with an estimated $2,000.

Pope Continues To Get Better

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Vatican source said today Pope Pius XII passed "a fairly good night."

The pope is still seriously ill from the gastric ailment that apparently brought him close to death nine days ago. But he has been slowly gaining strength.

He sat up to eat once yesterday and took a few brief walks on the arm of his private physician. On one of his excursions, he surprised an aide in his apartment by coming in to see his pet goldfishes.

"Obviously they feel better than I do," a source reported him saying with a smile.

Assembly Tells Secretary To Start Efforts

Hammarskjold Presses Immediate Steps To Talk To Chinese Reds

UNITED NATIONS N. Y. (AP)—Backed by an overwhelming mandate from the U. N. Assembly, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold began efforts today to win freedom for American airmen held by Red China as spies.

Hammarskjold quickly accepted the mission after the Assembly yesterday approved, 47-5, a resolution introduced by the United States and its 15 Korean Allies condemning peeping for jailing the fliers and demanding their release.

The vote was taken after two days of bitter East-West debate. The only opposing ballots were cast by the five-nation Soviet bloc which fought the item every step of the way. Yugoslavia and six Arab-Asian states abstained, apparently because of the clause condemning Peiping.

The Assembly poll originally stood at 45-6, but delegates for Costa Rica and El Salvador who got caught in a cross-town traffic jam and missed the ballot later persuaded Assembly President Eelco N. van Kleffens to record them as supporting the resolution.

HAMMARSKJOLD is known to consider the task entrusted to him as one of the greatest challenges to face a secretary general since the U. N. began work eight years ago. He told the assembly "I will do all in my power to serve the interests of the organization." A spokesman said later Hammarskjold was "taking immediate steps" to carry out the mandate.

"For the present," the spokesman said, "he believes it would not serve the purposes of the resolution to make any public pronouncements as to what these steps are. He hopes to be shortly in a position to say something further for publication."

Bitter Soviet resistance to the resolution and repeated claims by Russia's Jacob Malik and his colleagues that the airmen were "spies" who got their just deserts, gave scant hope of any help from the Kremlin.

But Hammarskjold was seen conferring with Malik after the Assembly vote, arousing speculation that he might be sounding out the Russians on the case.

'Secret' Red Text Found In Bookstores

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The sedition trial of Carl Braden went into its twelfth day today after his defense introduced an exact duplicate of a book the prosecution claims could have belonged to Braden only if he was a Communist party functionary.

Henry Goodman, a copyreader for the Courier-Journal, Dr. Louis C. Kesselman, chairman of the political science department at the University of Louisville, and John P. Bennett, an English instructor at Indiana University, testified they purchased copies of the document in open bookstores in Chicago, Boston and Columbus.

The three swore they are not now and never have been Communists.

The book in question is a Moscow-printed copy of "The Constitution and Fundamental Laws of the U.S.S.R."

The 40-year-old Braden, also a copyreader for the Courier-Journal on leave, is the first of six white defendants slated for trial for advocating sedition.

The six, including Braden's wife, were indicted following an investigation of the dynamiting of a Negro's home in a white neighborhood. Braden had bought the house and transferred the deed to the Negro, Andrew Wade IV, just before the blast last June.

Shopping Days in Christmas

Fine Weather Said Headache For Ohio Cities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Numerous Ohio city officials now are complaining of financial headaches that developed because of unusually good weather in the fall of 1953.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes explained the seeming paradox this way:

Favorable weather last fall enabled municipalities to extend their street maintenance programs long past the time when bad weather usually halts such work.

As a result, cities and villages spent more than usual in 1953 from gasoline tax and motor vehicle license funds received from the state.

With money running out and overdrafts imminent, local clerks, auditors and finance officers sent out SOS calls. They begged Rhodes to squeeze out an extra distribution of funds to pay their street maintenance and repair bills so they could end 1953 in the black.

Rhodes looked in his check book and found he could help. He made a distribution last Dec. 29 to some 900 municipalities equal to half the normal amount sent out.

Gas tax distributions usually equal $1 for each motor vehicle registered in municipalities. The extra distribution equalled 50 cents a vehicle. It saved the day for worried fiscal officers and increased the holiday joy in many a city hall.

It also set the stage for the present headaches.

In January, when most municipalities approve annual appropriations, many followed the practice of allocating for 1954 the same amounts they received during 1953 from gasoline tax and motor vehicle licenses.

They apparently overlooked the fact that gas tax money sent them on Dec. 29 normally would have been received in January, 1954. As a result, they appropriated more money than they will receive this year.

Harassed officials now are making year-end appeals for Rhodes to open his check book again. But the auditor says unfortunately the money isn't available.

Cleveland officials said even a distribution equal to 25 cents a vehicle would be welcome. Rhodes only shook his head.

He reported a final distribution of more than $3,800,000 in gas tax money this week to municipalities, counties and townships. And he said a third distribution of 1954 motor vehicle license funds would be made this month. That distribution will total more than $5,000,000 to local governments but municipalities will receive only about a 34 per cent share.

Money from gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license fees goes into the road and bridge funds of counties and townships.

High School's Band Invited To Van Wert

Circleville High School's marching band has been invited to participate next June 8 in the Van Wert Peony Festival, a revival of the classic event which was ranked as one of the nation's foremost festivals before it was recessed in 1941.

Invitations have been sent to nearly 100 bands by H. Herbert Jones, director of music for the Van Wert school system and chairman of the band arrangements for the celebration.

The bands will appear twice during the day—once in an afternoon parade and again in an evening parade. Arrangements are being made to provide lunches for the bands at noon and in the evening, free of charge. Or an alternate plan is being offered bands close to Van Wert: Only the evening lunch, plus $25.00 in lieu of the noon lunch. Any band may take its choice of the two plans.

The famed Peony Festival, only large-scale annual festival in northwestern Ohio, attracted 52 bands and an attendance of more than 100,000 people in its final staging in 1941. It was dropped as part of a patriotic policy during World War II. It was never resumed after the war for a variety of reasons until a movement this year to revive it.

EVER SINCE those other Peony Festival days, there have been countless requests sent in to Van Wert organizations asking each year for the date of the Festival.

Thus, it was apparent that a wide interest still prevailed despite the intervening 13 years.

This spurred a new generation of Van Wert citizens to undertake the big task again.

The Festival will follow much the same format as existed in 1941—parades in afternoon and evening and a big football stadium show after the evening parade.

Motorist Injured As Car Overturns

A North Carolina motorist escaped serious injury early Saturday when his car overturned several times on Route 159.

Clarence J. Talkingdon, 25, of Newport, N. C. suffered a possible broken shoulder. He was taken to Chillicothe Hospital in a Kingston ambulance.

State Patrolman Bob Greene reported that Talkingdon was negotiating a right curve when his car went out of control. The automobile so badly damaged, Greene said, that a wrecker had to lift it completely off the road on the truck's frame to tow it away.

The accident occurred at 5:10 a. m. Saturday, 2.3 miles north of Kingston.

Two District Men Plan Army Service

Two district men who plan to enlist in the U. S. Army will start off their service careers in the same outfit.

James E. Browning and Roger H. Holdren, both 18, will enlist on Dec. 29 and start their training at Fort Knox, Ky. After eight weeks of basic training at that big base, they will join the 3rd Cavalry Regiment at Fort George Meade, Md.

Both men will probably go to Germany during the first half of next year.

Browning is a son of Woodard Browning of Laurelsville Route 1. Holdren, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Holdren of Circleville Route 1, graduated last Spring from Circleville High School.

State Civil Service To Hold Test Here

Civil Service examinations for the position of superintendent of the Pickaway County Infirmary will be held next Jan. 19 at the county courthouse in Circleville.

The examinations are open to qualified applicants who are residents of the county. Information and application blanks are available at the office of County Auditor Fred Tipton. They may also be secured by writing to the State Civil Service Commission in Columbus.

Applications must be filed with the State Civil Service Commission no later than 5 p. m. on Jan. 10.

Floyd Ott, present superintendent of the Pickaway County Home, is at the infirmary only on a provisional appointment. He will be one of those taking the test.

Ameche Receives Heisman Trophy

NEW YORK (AP)—Alan Ameche of Wisconsin has joined the ranks of the Heisman Trophy winners as the 20th recipient of the coveted football honor.

Ameche, the four-year fullback ent of the Pickaway County Home, is at the infirmary only on a provisional appointment. He will be one of those taking the test.

Football TV Issue Slated For Debate

NEW YORK (AP)—The largest and most influential group of institutions in college sports, the Eastern College Athletic Conference, has lined up on the side of continued national controls in the expected struggle over whether college football should be televised.

The struggle is expected to take place during or before the NCAA convention next month, when consideration of a TV control plan for the 1955 season will be one of the most important items on the agenda.

By devising and proposing to the NCAA its own proposed program, the ECAC served notice yesterday it will oppose the proposals of the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conferences to put television on a regional basis.

The regional plan would divide the country into sections and allow each to select its own games to be telecast in its own area.

The ECAC plan calls for the "game a week" and one-appearance provisions to be retained but for some of the other restrictions to be relaxed.

The powerful Big Ten joined the Pacific Coast Conference to form a strong one-two bloc in favor of regional football television.

Taking its firm stand to date, the Big Ten yesterday added that it was prepared to follow through independently on the growing issue.

Rainfall Data Shows Drought Holding Grip

The monthly report from the Ohio Division of Water shows rainfall during November was fairly uniform throughout the state, sub-normal readings being reported for nearly all districts.

The greatest amount of precipitation reported was 1.80 inch at Youngstown. A total accumulation of only 1.01 inch rainfall in Circleville area was among the state's lowest readings.

The Division of Water said precipitation amounted to 1.08 inch in the Columbus region. Average reading for the eight index gauges maintained by the state in various localities was 1.34 inch, an average deficiency of 1.39 inch.

In the Circleville area, the deficiency for the month was an even greater, being measured at 1.78 inch.

Stream flow in the Scioto River at Chillicothe was just half of normal.

GROUND WATER levels were in the best situation as compared with past years that they have been in for the last twelve months. Ten of the 13 index wells showed levels higher than last month. However, only five showed levels higher than the five years average.

This indicates that in general the ground water level in the state is not satisfactory but that some improvement is shown, largely due to the excessive rainfall in October.

It should be kept in mind that this improvement will be only temporary unless there is more precipitation in the next few months than was experienced in November.

Perry Nears Record For Ball-Carrying

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joltin' Joe Perry, the battering ram of the San Francisco 49ers' offense, can break Steven Van Buren's five-year-old National Football League ball-carrying record by gaining 140 yards Saturday against Baltimore.

Van Buren, former Philadelphia Eagles' star, set the record in 1949.

Perry, who had only junior college experience prior to joining the NFL six years ago, has picked up 1,007 yards in 155 attempts for an average gain of 6.5 yards in statistics released Wednesday by the league. He gained 137 yards last week, the fifth time this year he has gone over the 100 mark.

Norm Van Brocklin, Los Angeles, has a wide lead in the passing department over defending champion Otto Graham of Cleveland. Van Brocklin has a 9.89 average gain in yards on 252 attempts with 134 completions good for 2,493 yards and 12 touchdowns. Graham has an average of 8.62. He has thrown 225, completing 134 for 1,940 yards and 11 touchdowns.

The Philadelphia Eagles' veteran end Pete Pihos, the defending champion, is tied with Billy Wilson of San Francisco for the pass receiving leadership. Both have 52 receptions.

Bobby Walston, Philadelphia, leads Detroit's Doak Walker in the scoring race with 105 to 98 points, but the Lions' back has an extra game to play over the Eagles' end. Lou Groza of Cleveland is third with 75 points.

whose 3,212 career rushing yardage is a new NCAA record, was presented the award as the outstanding college player of 1954 at the Downtown Athletic Club last night.

"I'm both proud and humble in accepting the trophy," Ameche said. "Proud because I know this is the greatest honor that can come to a football player and humble because I know it could as easily have gone to several others."

Oregon Back Tops Grid Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—Oregon's George Shaw won the country's major college individual total offense title this football season, and no one can say he didn't earn it in the most appropriate way.

He beat last year's champion, California's Paul Larson, by out-gaining him when they met face to face, and led Oregon to an upset victory in the process.

Shaw gained 1,536 yards, 178 of them by running, final NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed today. Larson had 1,485, including a rushing net loss of 52, and Purdue's Len Dawson had 1,384, with an 80-yard loss on the ground.

Berra Named Most Valuable Player In AL

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra, still expressing surprise at being named the American League's Most Valuable Player, said today he's willing to play the outfield for the New York Yankees in 1955.

"I'll play anywhere they want me," said Yogi, "third base, catcher, outfield. Just say the word. But I wouldn't mind the outfield a bit if this boy Howard comes along."

"This boy Howard" is Elston Howard, regarded as one of the hottest Yankee rookie prospects in years. Normally an outfielder, the young Negro spent last year in Toronto as a catcher.

"I know Bill Dickey will work hard with him," Yogi said. "Bill taught me an awful lot when I came up and he probably can do the same for Howard. The only time I've seen Howard was at spring training last year and I know he's a hard worker. He doesn't grumble and he's willing to try. That's important."

Berra, the MVP in 1951, is the first repeater for the honor since Ted Williams won in 1946 and 1949. He polled 230 points in the balloting by 24 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. from the eight American League cities. Larry Doby of Cleveland was a close second with 210 and Bobby Avila of Cleveland was third with 203. Minnie Miñoso of the Chicago White Sox and Bob Lemon, another Cleveland star, finished off the top five.

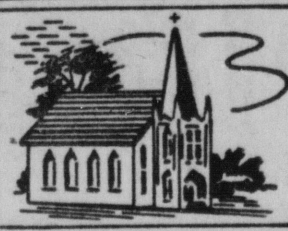

Oklahoman Holds Miami Open Lead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"This is just halfway mark. The pressure hasn't started yet."

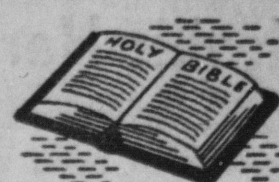

Doing the talking was Bo Winger, 32-year-old Oklahoman professional whose spectacular putting in the second round vaulted him into the lead of the $10,000 Miami Open. He started today round one stroke ahead of the field with a 68-66-134, five under par.

Sam Snead, favored to pick up his sixth Miami Open victory, was forced out when his famed achilles back started giving him trouble.

Church Of Christ Hears Sermon On Realizing Of Hopes

"So Near And Yet So Far" is announced as the sermon topic for the Church of Christ Sunday meeting at 159 E. Main St.

In this lesson there will be given a number of Bible examples of some who came very near to realizing their hopes and ambitions, who traveled well the first part of their journey, but failed finally because of some defect or sin in their life.

Moses was chosen by God to lead His people out of the land of Egyptian bondage and into the promised land of Canaan. He made a wonderful start in complying with God's every command, but at one point in his life he failed. On one occasion, when the Israelites were in the wilderness, God instructed Moses to speak to the rock and bring water forth for the people to drink. Instead of this Moses smote the rock twice.

"God said, 'Because ye believed me not, to sanctify me in the eyes of the children of Israel, therefore ye shall not bring this congregation into the land which I have given them' (Num 20:7-12). Therefore, when Moses came down to the end of life's day God restrained him from entering into the promised land of Canaan. He took him up onto the top of Mt. Nebo and showed him all of the land. It must have been a sad occasion for Moses as he wistfully looked at the beautiful land and realized that he could not enter in.

"This same experience may in a sense be repeated in the lives of many people. There are those who have lived good moral lives and engaged in many good deeds with the happy anticipation of entering into Heaven with all of its joys some day. Yet, many of these same people will be turned away from the gate because of a failure on their part to fully and completely obey the gospel of Christ. Jesus said, 'Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.' (Mt. 7:21).

Bible Words To Live By

PSALM 121:1—"I will lift up my eyes."

The Psalmist here is offering a most vital suggestion that is timeless. Man's morale is often shattered because he has the view of a worm instead of the view of a bird that looks constantly on high. A worm is aware only of the ground beneath him; the rest of the world is unnoticed. And although the whole wide world be a luxurious bed, a real "heaven", for worms, the worm roasting on a parched pavement thinks the whole world is "hell"! And so is its life. Similarly, a man has his troubles (he's lonely; he's failed in his job; he's made a foolish mistake; he's been assigned to a job he doesn't like) and as a consequence his attention is so wrapped up in his troubles that, like the worm, he sees these and nothing more. They discolor his whole world. Yet, like the worm, if he but looked up to the possibilities of his total life, he would find for himself a world so rich and satisfying as to cause his present trouble to slip in importance into their small and proper place.

What a man needs is not a worm's view of life, but a bird's view of his world. He needs to see not only his speck of trouble, which discolours his whole life, but the broad expanse of his world as a bird sees the broad flowing fields. Then he knows that, although he has troubles and desert wastes, he also has grounds for hope and thanksgiving: mother, father, wife or sweetheart, memories and aspirations, sunsets and moonlights, dreams and plans and purposes, God Himself, fertile fields, rich harvests of countless colors and flavors. What a man needs to keep his spirit high is a broad outlook, a full perspective, an elevated view of life.

It goes without saying that a man needs the help of the Almighty to keep an elevated view of life and discover as the Psalmist did, "My help cometh from the Lord." Regular attendance at the church of one's choice will greatly aid one in seeing the world in its proper perspective, rather than seeing it as a worm sees it. Make regular worship a habit.

INSERT STARS

There is always something to deter one on the way, some obstacle to cause one some delay. One should learn early in the Christian life to depend upon God and not be carried about with every kind of doctrine. The text suggests that one have some positive convictions and stick with them. There are always those who would hold one back, the enemy is ever lurking, just waiting to attack.

My godly mother implanted this principle in my young life while a lad on the farm. I was taught to make up my mind, to be mature, never whining about conditions, but jump in and change conditions. Give us more men of maturity for our day.

SPIRE in the SNOW

Next time you see a church standing in the snow, its spire raised to the winter sky, think how hard it was to attend Sunday services in your grandfather's day.

Then it was a matter of getting up in the cold chill of early morning, hitching up horse and sled, and jingling across the countryside with sharp icicles of wind stinging your cheeks. Yet few stayed at home because of the weather.

Today, it is relatively easy for all of us to get to Church. Whether we live in the city or in the country, modern transportation can bring us conveniently to the very doors of the Church. Yet we are far more apt to stay home than grandfather was.

Grandfather realized there was so much to be gained by making his pilgrimage through the snow that only sickness could have kept him at home. He knew that few experiences were richer than worshipping in the church of his choice each Sunday morning. If we stop to think . . . and if we're honest with ourselves . . . we'll know it too.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SUICIDAL WEAPON

THAT THERE WILL ultimately be no defense whatever against nuclear warfare is suggested by accounts of the "I.B.M." missile now being improved. It will carry atomic or hydrogen warheads, will travel at speeds in excess of 4,000 miles per hour and at a range of 5,000 miles will have an error of perhaps four to eight miles.

The United States and Russia are expected to have this weapon perfected sometime between 1962 and 1965, perhaps sooner. When this ghastly instrument is finished, the aggressor possessing it can aim and fire. It will presumably explode near enough to targets across oceans to destroy or immobilize a wide strategic area. Deadly nuclear radiation would spread out over a still wider area.

The nation attacked, if a powerful nation like the United States in possession of the weapon, would then counterattack. Two great nations would be ruined, perhaps not to rise again. This will nullify all previous defense concepts and leave all people naked to attack.

When that time comes, if it does, the human race will have the choice between survival and suicide. The choice will be survival and the way to effect the choice will be the containment of power-mad leaders who would use any weapon to gratify their lust. Ways must be found of protecting the world against a few who might destroy it.

GLOBAL SANTA

SANTA CLAUS is digging into the stock of his surplus food hoard to make this Christmas a little more memorable, and less hungry for needy families in 44 countries throughout the world. The first of 6 million holiday food packages, each bearing the legend in appropriate language, "Donation of the People of the United States," are already on their way to Europe.

Continental countries are ticketed to get 2½ million of the gift boxes, with 1½ million earmarked for the Far East, and 1 million each to Middle Asia and Latin America.

Loaded into a typical package, worth about $4.50 in U. S. money, are butter, cheese, dried milk and dried beans, in pound quantities each. Also included are three pounds of rice, five pounds of flour, a pound of shortening and a pound of canned beef and gravy. With the exception of the beef, all the items are from surplus stocks.

The Foreign Operations Administration has charge of the massive chore of assembling, packing and shipping the mountain of provender. Once arrived at their destination the packages will be distributed by the U. S. armed forces and numerous American volunteer agencies.

It is said that Uncle Sam plays Santa Claus to the world. Here is evidence of it.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Senator Mike Mansfield is generally regarded as a Liberal with a big L. A Liberal used to be defined as a person who believed in an increase in the liberties of the individual man, David Hume, the philosopher who so affected the thought which brought our country into existence, defined liberty as follows:

"... By liberty, then, we can only mean a power of acting or not acting, according to the determinations of the will; this is, if we choose to remain at rest, we may; if we choose to move, we also may. Now this hypothetical liberty is universally allowed to belong to every one who is not a prisoner and in chains. . ."

When therefore Senator Mansfield would deprive a retired Army or Navy officer of the right to speak his mind or join a cause, of his own free will and at his own risk, he would deprive him of his liberty.

Edmund Burke made the point that "among a people generally corrupt, liberty cannot long exist," which is why the Marxists find themselves in difficulties because they have permitted themselves to be corrupted by enslavement to a discipline and a conspiracy and reject the doctrine of free will by the acceptance of mental and moral regimentation. It is precisely this regimentation that must be fought off in the United States.

Senator Mansfield takes the position that military officers have been "taken care of" from the time they enter West Point or Annapolis until they are buried in Arlington National Cemetery. He said: "They should not lend their good names and prestige to movements which are contrary to the best interests of the United States."

He would deprive such men of their liberty and force them to conform to some dictated but temporary view because they once were employed by the Government of the United States. Such a position makes employment a liability because it reduces such a person to secondary citizenship. Can anyone imagine General Douglas MacArthur being silenced because he was for half a century employed in the United States Army?

In the matter of John Paton Davies, Jr., it does not seem to be reasonable that the State Department should withhold the money due him—or for that matter of anyone else—unless he signs a contract gagging him. Is money worth that much? He has the right, as a person and a citizen, to devote his life to the defense of his integrity. We grant that right to a murderer, a rapist, a thief, a spy. Shall we refuse that right to a man because he was in the employ of the State Department?

Let us consider two hypothetical cases: 1. Suppose John Paton Davies, Jr., wishes to fight his case on the thesis that he was asked to do certain things by the CIA or by the State Department and that whatever he did was only in fulfillment of his duty. Shall he be deprived of the right to try to prove such a defense? Is he not entitled to document such a case if he can? Is he forever to bear the stigma of rejection without the opportunity to clear himself?

I do not know whether Davies can clear himself, but he is entitled to the possibility. (Continued on Page Eight)

news behind the news

Editor's Note: Every Saturday, Mr. Tucker answers readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent to him at 7008 Hillcrest Lane, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—"Why did Senate Democrats vote unanimously against Senator McCarthy in the censure matter?" asks G. K. of Springfield, Mass.

Answer: Although the Democrats did not caucus on the McCarthy question, thus making it compulsory for each member to condemn, it was virtually a point of party pride and prestige with them. The Wisconsin senator had repeatedly branded the Democrats, insofar as the Roosevelt and Truman years were concerned, as the "Party of Treason."

Grover Cleveland broke the spell.

ON GUARD—In the McCarthy charges, as well as in Vice-President Nixon's recent campaign speeches, the Democrats discerned another attempt to smear their party as having been too soft on Communists. Had the tag, "Party of Treason," been attached successfully, it might have operated against the Democrats as effectively as the "bloody shirt" campaign cry.

McCarthy had expected a few votes from the other side of the aisle, and failure to receive them was a personal disappointment. He had anticipated a pro-McCarthy vote of at least 30, as against the final 22 in his favor.

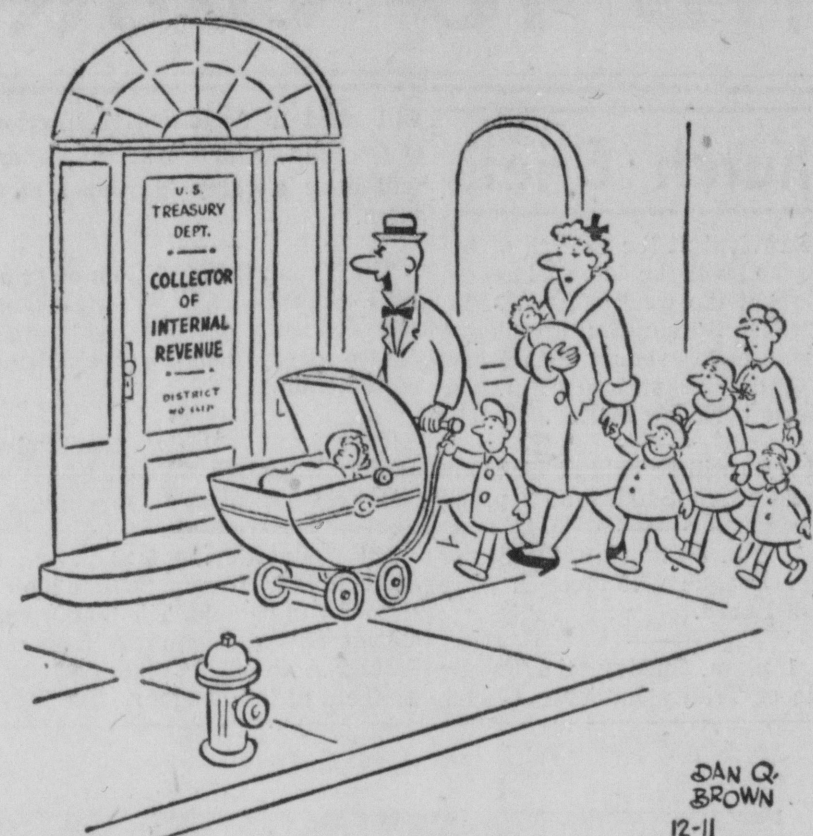

Answer: Although my copy of the pact seems to have escaped my files, the general terms declare against and provide punishment for mistreatment of minorities that would cause "mental or physical anguish." The declaration was designed to take cognizance of and prevent a repetition of Hitler's persecution of non-Nordic racial groups.

NOT RATIFIED—It has not been ratified by the Senate, and it will not be. Not even the State Department under Dean Acheson favored acceptance by the United States. If it were to be ratified, some lawyers contend that it could be invoked to convict anybody who assaults an individual of a so-called minority, of which there are many in the United States.

In fact, our country is made up of minorities, as the politicians recognize and demonstrate by their election time behavior. "You report that millions of pounds of butter owned by the government," writes A. V. V., address ungiven, "are being shipped overseas. There are many Americans using margarine because they can't afford butter. Why doesn't the government sell its butter at a low price to Americans?"

DIET AND HEALTH

Health Is Safeguarded With New Medications

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MEDICAL science makes great strides each month in developing new medications and treatments to protect the health of you and your children. Among the latest advances are:

Hydrocortisone: a modification of the drug cortisone, which has been used so effectively in the treatment of arthritis, and many other disorders. In helping bring relief to arthritis victims, it can be injected directly into painful joints and also into connective tissues.

Low Back Pain

It has also helped bring relief of low back pain due to fibrositis, which is an inflammation of the connective tissues, such as the ligaments.

It is useful in eye disorders. Serpasil: a preparation derived from a plant known as Rauwolfia serpentina. It is used to control hypertension and nervous pressure in general. It has been helpful in calming and soothing patients under strain. Excellent results have been obtained when given to psychotic persons in a state of anxiety.

Antihistamine Relative

Chlorpromazine: A drug related chemically to the antihistamines. Demonstrations have shown it aids in relaxing muscles, relieving itching, lowering body temperature and increasing the effectiveness of analgesics.

While it acts as a sedative, it does not confuse or depress mental processes. It has been used effectively with another drug, disulfiram, in treating chronic alcoholics, keeping them calm and even helping some of them sleep during the withdrawal period.

Relieves Nausea

As little as a single dose has helped patients who had been suffering severe nausea and had been vomiting. Trevalid: Available only for experimental purposes, it is a mixture of a vegetable gum, a cooked oatmeal derivative and antacids. Ulcer patients report the tablets give excellent results. Of 123 patients tested, 115 said they got distinct or complete relief of symptoms.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

E. G.: I have been bothered for years with perspiring hands. Can you advise me what to do? Answer: Excessive sweating of the palms may be an indication of some general disorder, such as an infection or perhaps even difficulty with the thyroid gland. In many cases, it is a localized condition, the cause for which cannot be determined.

There is no treatment which is of any particular value. Of course, a careful search should be made for the cause, so that it can be eliminated just as soon as it is discovered.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

EARLY the next morning Hester knocked on Jennie's door. She was wearing a black suit, even gloves. "I'm driving down to Saranac, Jenn. I had a letter yesterday from Anne Babbitt, one of my friends, saying she was stopping there and suggesting that I join her. Is there anything I can pick up for you on the way back? Mail or anything?"

"No, thanks. Your headache has gone?"

"Oh, yes—it was rest I needed." Then Hester said: "Jennie, about your doors. You don't know how glad I am that I've persuaded you not to bolt them to dismiss your silly fears!"

Jennie could have told her sister that she had nothing to do with it but she kept silent, and Hester went on in a tone of giving a reward: "Some day you and I'll drive down to the mountains!"

"That will be nice," said Jennie. She heard Hester drive out of the yard. Almost at once Cindy tapped on her door. "Do you think I could let Nip and Tuck out now?"

"Enid's told her of her mother's aversion to cats," thought Jennie. "Yes, but I'd watch them." Enid joined Cindy in the watching. From her kitchen Jennie saw the two girls sitting in the barn doorway. Cindy appeared to be doing the talking; Enid sat hugging her knees, her chin propped against them. Jennie was struck with the contrast between the two girls—a reserve in Enid that made her seem much older than Cindy, a vividness in Cindy's face that made Enid's plain. Yet in one thing they were alike—they both had life ahead of them, to make of it what they wished!

Cindy was doing most of the talking, as she and Enid sat in the barn doorway, partly because Enid did not appear inclined to say anything and partly because it was good to go on and on, after these days when she had had no one but herself to talk to. Except Gary Norbeck, that little while at the pool.

She did not think of Enid as a cousin but rather as another girl, only a little older than herself. Different—she recognized Enid's clothes, even the slacks and loose blouse she was wearing now, as far more expensive than her own, yet she did not think Enid was snooty or even standoffish, just uncommunicative.

"I've met this man who lives over in the woods. I met him at the creek . . ." With a little giggle, Cindy told of the circumstances of that meeting. "First I thought he was an awful sorcerer—but he isn't—he's really nice—he came up and dug my garden for me that afternoon you came—he brought me some seeds. And he wants to paint my portrait!"

"He was painting it . . ." Then Enid stopped, abruptly.

Cindy stared at her, incredulously, her eyes accusing. "How do you know?"

"I stopped at his cabin to ask my way across the creek. I saw the canvas on the easel."

"But I haven't posed yet for him!" There was a wall of disappointment in Cindy's voice. She asked: "Did you like him?"

"I don't know—I haven't thought whether I did or not."

At that Cindy's face brightened. Enid couldn't have spoken more than a word or two with Gary Norbeck or she'd be thinking something about him! "And I'll bet he didn't ask her if he could paint her picture!"

Early that evening Jennie saw Ed Pauly drive into the yard, get out of his car, holding a yellow envelope in his hand, stand a moment looking over the house, then approach her door.

She opened it.

"Evening, Miss Todd. Nice evening. Telegram for Miss Enid Wilmer."

"I'll see if she is in her wing."

No one answered her knock or her call. She said: "She may be outside. I'll take you to her!" She went past him, out of the door, alarm in the hurry of her step. In her experience a telegram always contained bad news—this might concern Enid's father. In the few seconds it took to lead Ed Pauly around the house she was remembering that on those rare and brief visits at Hester's, she had liked Hubert Wilmer.

Enid was with Cindy. They were struggling to chop some kindling. "Enid! Mr. Pauly—he brought a telegram for you!"

Enid put down the hatchet. "For me?"

"Yes, miss. It came more'n an hour back. Says in it to deliver by taxi and that's me." He put the envelope into Enid's hand.

Jennie watched Enid's face as she opened it. But she saw no shock come to it. Enid read it through twice, then she folded it and put it back in the pocket of her slacks.

"What do I owe you, Mr. Pauly?"

He told her, and she went to the house and got the money.

When Pauly left, Jennie said to Enid, something of her sudden nervousness in her voice: "Your mother—shouldn't she be back before dark?"

Enid patted the pocket in which she had put the telegram. "She isn't coming back tonight. She is staying a few days with these friends in Saranac."

Jennie made no comment. Enid asked: "Aunt Jennie, when you were girls, did my mother always tell you just what you should do?"

"Why—yes! She was older than I—she knew more . . ."

"She makes me think she does," amended Enid. "That's why it isn't easy to oppose her. You're never sure of yourself. And you don't get anywhere—if you speak up with any idea of your own, she laughs at you, makes you feel like a fool and dumb, and you just shut up . . ."

"Enid!" protested Jennie, out of some shock at hearing Enid speak in this way of her mother. Then she fell silent—for wasn't Enid's experience her own?

The next day, after an early lunch, Jennie Todd put on her blue suit and her hat to walk down to the village. To buy food, she told herself, when the impulse seized her. What she had brought with her was almost gone.

She knocked at Cindy's door. "I'm going to the town, shopping. Is there anything I can get for you?"

Enid was with Cindy. Both girls looked at her incredulously. Both said: "You're walking? All that way?"

Jennie smiled. "I like to walk, and it isn't too far. I'll come back with my things in that taxi."

Enid said: "Would you mind stopping at the post-office and asking if there's any mail for me? But leave mother's name. She likes to get her mail herself."

"Onion sets—though they'd be a lot to carry, wouldn't they?"

"I'll bring some, if I can find them anywhere," said Jennie. Nearing the village, she studied the houses on each side of the road. This was Killbuck and she must know it, if she were going to spend her summers from now on at the farm.

A little ahead, where the road widened, she could see the brick and wooden fronts, signs, parked cars of the business section. Evidently it was a one-story village—she would have no trouble locating shops. She thought of the list in her purse—the bank, first, for it must be near closing time.

She had slowed her step to scan the signs and windows on each side of the street when she heard her name called. "Miss Todd!" Wick Middleton was coming up behind her.

He held out his hand. "You walked down!" But he did not say it with the amazement the girls had shown. He added: "And you look as fresh as a daisy! Let's go into Mrs. Pauly's here and have some ice cream."

Divisional Harness Racing Champions Awarded Crowns

COLUMBUS (AP)—Margins ranging from near unanimous to narrow were accorded divisional harness racing champions in each of the six categories voted on, the U. S. Trotting Association said today in announcing results of its annual turf writers' poll.

The trotting champions were Scott Frost (2-year-old), Stenographer (3-year-old), and Kimberly Kid (aged). The pacing leaders in the same classes were Quick Chief, Adios Boy and Red Sails.

In addition to naming the divisional champions, the 97 writers also cast their votes for Harness Horse of the Year. That selection will be announced next week.

Scott Frost rolled up the biggest margin polling 86 of the 95 votes cast in his division. The Hoot Mon colt, winter book choice for next year's $100,000 Hambletonian Stake, is owned by Sol Camp of Shafter, Cal.

Closest margin was registered in the 2-year-old pacing class with Quick Chief, owned by Farmstead Acres, Brookville, N. Y., polling 27 votes against 18 for Meadow Ace. Sixteen juvenile pacers received one or more votes in the wide open contest.

Stenographer, owned by Max Hempt, Mechanicsburg, Pa., registered a handy victory in the 3-year-old trotting class, rolling up 65 votes against 18 for runnerup Harlan, her stablemate in the Del Miller string.

In the 3-year-old pacing class it was strictly between Adios Boy and Adios Harry, with the former polling 41 votes against 27. Adios Boy is owned by J. S. Turner, Nassawadox, Va.

In the aged classes Kimberly Kid and Red Sails were decisive winners. Kimberly Kid received 47 votes in the trotting division against 19 for Katie Key, while Red Sails polled 50 against 25 for Philip Scott.

Kimberly Kid is owned by the Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N. J., and Red Sails by H. T. King, Lynn, Indiana.

Repeaters from last year, although in different divisions, were Adios Boy and Kimberly Kid.

Miami Tackle Tops League's Honor Team

Annual Mid-American Conference All-Star '11' Paced By Redskins

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tom Jones, Miami University's huge senior tackle from Cincinnati, rated by many as the equal of any lineman in the country—was the standout today as The Associated Press picked its 1954 all-star team from Mid-American Conference schools.

The 6-foot 5-inch, 242-pound stalwart was the unanimous choice of the coaches in the league balloting, and was awarded the team captaincy.

Three other hotshots of the champion Miami squad moved into first team berths along with Jones, with Toledo and Kent State getting two spots and Bowling Green, Marshall and Ohio University one each.

Miami's cunning and youthful mentor, Ara Parseghian, was named the conference's outstanding coach, with Jones the No. 1 lineman and Mel Triplett of Toledo the best back.

With Jones leading the way, the front wall averages 213 from end to end.

The backfield is a dream. The ball-toting corps is engineered by quarterback Dick Hunter of Miami, who completed 14 of 20 passes for 226 yards and three touchdowns and piloted the Redskins to a 47.5-yard average on the ground and in the air.

At halfback are the loop's leading scorers and ground gainers, Lou Mariano of Kent State and Erland Ahlberg of Ohio U. Mariano gained 600 yards rushing in 60 tries, and scored 38 points in five league games, while Ahlberg scored 48 in seven games as he gained 579 in 86 rushes.

Triplett, tied for third in scoring with 30 points in 5 contests, was also third in ground gained with 517 yards in 88 blasts at the line. The 1954 Mid-American Conference all-star team:

Ends: Jack Hecker of Bowling Green, Mel Baker of Miami.

Tackles: Joe Barbee of Kent State, Tom Jones of Miami.

Guards: Stan Jones of Miami, Albie Maier of Marshall.

Center: George Machoukas of Toledo.

Quarterback: Dick Hunter of Miami.

Halfbacks: Erland Ahlberg of Ohio U., Lou Mariano of Kent State.

Fullback: Mel Triplett of Toledo.

SECOND TEAM

Ends: Luke Owens of Kent State, John Berryman of Western Michigan.

Tackles: Roger Seisel of Miami, James Walker of Western Michigan.

Guards: John Schwab of Ohio U., Russ Giganti of Miami.

Center: Dick Mattern of Miami.

Quarterback: Bill Frederick of Ohio U.

Halfbacks: Fred Freeman of Marshall, Bob Wallace of Miami.

Fullback: Bob Bronston of Miami.

Buckeye Band Going To Bowl

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State University's famed marching band will accompany the Big Ten football champions to the Rose Bowl for the New Year's Day clash with Southern Cal.

Cincy Bearcats Dominate All-Ohio College Eleven

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati's Bearcats won the heavy end of the laurels today as coaches, sports writers and broadcasters named the 1954 All-Ohio college football team.

Sid Gillman's club, although beaten by Miami, won 7 of the top 22 places while Ara Parseghian's Redskins were winning three berths. But Parseghian wound up in a tie with Ashland's Bob Brownson as the coaches and scribes tried to decide which had done the better coaching job.

Miami, winner over Indiana and beaten only by resurgent Dayton, also won the team captaincy with Tom Jones, the Redskins' 6-5, 242-pound tackle, who was voted the state's No. 1 lineman. Mel Triplett, Toledo's great fullback, was named the ace ball-carrier.

Independent teams — Cincinnati, Dayton, John Carroll, Youngstown and Xavier — were awarded 13 of the 22 top positions, with eight going to Mid-American Conference teams and one to an Ohio Conference player. The latter was Walt Livingston of Heidelberg, second team halfback.

Although Miami was held to three selections among the first 22, the Redskins came up with six more in the honorable mention list — indicating that Parseghian did a great job with not too many outstanding individual stars.

Well up in the "top coach" voting were Dayton's Hugh Devore, Heidelberg's Paul Horneeman, Gillman, Youngstown's Dike Beede, and Toledo's Frosty Englund. Brownson, who tied with Parseghian, was last year's Ohio high school coach of the year after piloting Portsmouth to an unbeaten untied season and second place in the state ratings. This year he won seven straight with an Ashland team which had won only one game in the last two campaigns.

Here's how the voters rated the All-Ohio stars:

FIRST TEAM

Ends: Glen Dillhoff of Cincinnati, Jim Katsavage of Dayton.

Tackles: Tom Jones of Miami, Bob Garcar of Youngstown.

Guards: Jim Shafer of Dayton, John Byrne of John Carroll.

Center: George Machoukas of Toledo.

Halfbacks: Ricky Goist of Cincinnati, Erland Ahlberg of Ohio U.

Fullback: Mel Triplett of Toledo

SECOND TEAM

Ends: Mel Baker of Miami, Don Delsignore of Youngstown.

Tackles: Francis Sweeney of Xavier, Noel Guyot of Cincinnati.

Guards: John Schwab of Ohio U., Jack Campbell of Cincinnati.

Center: Dave Faulkner of Cincinnati.

Quarterback: Dick Hunter of Miami.

Halfbacks: Lou Mariano of Kent State, Walt Livingston of Heidelberg.

Utah '5' Looks Mighty Powerful

DENVER (AP)—If you can take nonconference records as an indication, the rave notices about the University of Utah before the start of the basketball season were right.

Coach Jack Gardner's Utes now have won five games in a row, including last night's smartly styled 77-44 victory over the University of Arizona.

Utah probably will have to fight off Wyoming for the Skyline Conference championship, but Brigham Young, another perennial contender, doesn't seem to have it.

The state controlling board notified OSU Business Manager Jacob Taylor it would approve expenses of sending the band as well as the team to California. Taylor's request ended speculation the band might not make the trip.

Columbus Loses Pro Baseball '9'

COLUMBUS (AP)—Columbus is without a professional baseball team for the first time in 53 years.

The Red Birds are moving to Omaha, which replaces Columbus in the American Association.

This city's baseball fans still were clinging to a slim hope that the Kansas City Athletics will transfer their Ottawa franchise in the International League to Columbus. Tampa, Fla., also is in the picture as a site for Ottawa.

Steady Prices Seen In 1955 For Eggs, Broilers, Turkeys

ROUNDUP

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

An Ohio State University extension economist predicts 1955 egg, broiler and turkey prices will be about the same or slightly lower than in 1954.

Robert Schwart says there will be about four percent more laying hens on farms January 1 than a year ago. Unless flock culling increases, egg production will be larger from now until April than it was last year. Egg prices in March and April will probably be lower than a year ago.

Egg prices may improve by mid-1955 if the number of replacement pullets next spring is low enough to make egg storage seem profitable. However, the relation of feed to egg prices is not likely to improve, Schwart adds. He says broiler placements in 13 commercial producing areas are running about eight percent above 1954 placements. He sees little chance of a decline in broiler production or a rise in broiler prices.

Broiler raising is highly specialized so buildings and equipment can't be readily converted to other uses. It is generally financed so that the farmer furnishes the buildings, equipment and labor. The financier furnishes chicks, feed, fuel and some other cash costs. The farmer receives a percent of the returns above these cash costs, or he receives a set amount per week per thousand chicks.

Specialization plus the inability of the industry to predict prices causes farmers and financiers to spread the production almost uniformly through the year. They feel too that lowering production lets benefits accrue to those who continue heavy production.

Present low turkey prices may bring about a smaller crop for 1955. Schwart advises turkey raisers to watch the prospective supply of hatching eggs and early poults. A record 1954 crop of 61 million birds forced prices about 6 cents lower than last year.

Two agricultural economists of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster have outlined essentials of a good farm lease. It should provide for and allow, profitable farming and give a fair division of returns between landowner and operator. A lease also should provide for a system of farming that will maintain or increase the productivity of the farm, give some security of tenure, and be in writing.

The economists, J. I. Falconer and H. R. Moore, have published their recommendations in a research bulletin titled, "Ohio Farm Leases." They obtained their data from a study of more than 2,000 rental arrangements in the state.

In addition to a detailed study of the five essentials, the bulletin discusses methods of renting land, cash vs. share renting, provisions of Ohio farm leases, a fair division of returns, and ways to keep up the level of productivity. An appendix also gives actual samples of farm leases.

Residents of Ohio may obtain a free copy of the study by writing to the mailing room of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster.

December marks the start of the winter build-up of cattle, T. H. Parks, Ohio State University extension entomologist, reminds farmers. The louse problem is worst in winter and early spring, he added.

Parks advised farmers to inspect their cattle now rather than wait until animal rubbing and bare patches on necks and backs mean loss in weight and milk production. The experienced eye can detect the presence of lice by their effect on the animal and the condition of the hair.

Spraying cattle thoroughly with methoxychlor, rotenone, or lindane will kill lice. The specialist recommended 1 to 3 gallons of spray for each mature animal. The smaller amount is adequate for short-haired animals.

To mix the sprays, use 1.2 pound of 50 percent methoxychlor in 6 gallons of water or 8 pounds in 100 gallons of water. It takes 2 ounces of powdered 5 percent derris root or cube root rotenone in 6 gallons of water to kill lice or 2 pounds in 100 gallons. One ounce of 25 percent lindane powder in 6 gallons of water or 1 pound in 100 gallons of water will control the lice.

Parks said that in most cases it is necessary to re-treat in 15 days since the treatment isn't entirely effective against louse eggs.

Applications made in December should solve the louse problem for winter and spring. A hand or compressed air sprayer is satisfactory for treating a few animals, but a high pressure power sprayer is needed for large herds.

A 10 percent dust of methoxychlor or a commercial mixture of rotenone and sulfur dust is satisfactory if rubbed thoroughly into the hair. Ten percent DDT dust can be used on animals where their milk isn't used by humans. Parks suggested 6 to 8 ounces of dust per animal.

He cautioned farmers to use the materials and dosage recommended and not to experiment with other materials nor increase the dosage over that given.

Gasoline Tax Fund Divided By State

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio auditor's office has reported a final distribution of $3,888,637 in gasoline tax funds to municipalities, counties and townships.

Each of Ohio's 88 counties received $10,000 and each township got $400. Cities and villages received a total of $2,475,037.

The third distribution of 1954 motor vehicle license funds will be made this month. It will total $5,858,122 with municipalities receiving about 34 percent.

Gasoline tax and motor vehicle license money go into street maintenance and repair funds of municipalities and into the road and bridge fund of counties.

Hal Boyle Says:

He Flings Bulls And Ditties

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a difficult thing for a man in a ring to sword a maddened bull to death. But, senior, it is even more difficult on the nerves for this same man to slay an American night club audience with no weapon but his baritone voice.

Manuel Capetillo swears this is so. Manuel, who is one of Mexico's top matadors, now has a new career. When the bulls are out of season, he belts out Mexican ditties in night clubs.

Although he has been a big hit in his first New York appearance, Manuel says he still finds it easier work to face a bull than a cafe society audience.

"The nerves I get fighting the bulls, they are different from the nerves I get when I am singing," he explained.

"When I fight a bull I am not singing. I may feel sick three days before a bull fight and three days after, but I don't have the nerves when I am actually facing the bull."

Manuel is an extraordinarily talented man. He is a charro (Mexican blue-blooded cowboy), a bullfighter, a movie actor and a vocalist. In his own land he is a kind of combined Joe DiMaggio, Roy Rogers and Perry Como.

Yet Capetillo, who has killed 400 bulls and been badly gored five times in the ring, is still only 28. He is slender, 6 feet 2, dark-eyed and handsome.

He makes up to $10,000 a bullfight. It is an industry in which the upkeep is greater than the initial expense. His costumes cost him up to $15,000 a season. The heavy, gold-braided matador's outfit he wears in his night club routine weighs about 20 pounds and cost him more than $7,000.

Capetillo says he has been fighting bulls and singing as long as he can remember. He is largely a self-taught matador and started learning the tricks of the trade as a boy of 5 waving capes at calves on his father's ranch.

"I never took a professional bullfighting lesson or singing lesson in my life," he said. He became a matador at 22, hopes to stay in the field until he is 35, or even 40, if his nerves hold out.

"I want to sing and fight the bulls as long as I can," he said simply. "It is my life."

"It is not the legs that go first, as it is with a baseball player, when he no longer can control his nervous system. Somehow the bull seems able to sense this."

Despite the terrible thigh scars left on his body by the five bulls who outpointed him, Manuel says he has no particular fear once he enters the ring.

"For a moment, when you first see the bull, you have a feeling like a martyr and wonder why you are there," he explained. Then the action starts, and there is no time for feelings.

"I do not eat the day of a fight, and it is very good to have a quick glass of cognac to settle the stomach before entering the ring," Manuel added.

The bull doesn't get any cognac. He is not supposed to be nervous. After the fight, Manuel is voraciously hungry. He and his retinue like big steaks, sometimes provided by his late opponent in the ring.

It is the same way with Manuel just before he goes out to the spotlight on a supper club floor.

"A couple of small glasses of wine are very good to settle the stomach," he said.

The only other thing that makes Manuel nervous is girls. He is a bachelor.

"And I intend to stay this way all my life," he said frankly.

2. Suppose Alger Hiss wishes to prove that he was not a Communist, not a spy for Soviet Russia, but that he served his government in a special manner at the request, let us say, of the President of the United States. I do not know that there is the slightest truth in such a hypothesis or that Alger Hiss wants to do anything of the sort. But suppose he does, has anyone the moral right to deprive him of the freedom to fight for his name, his place in the world, even to his dying day, only because he was employed by the Government of the United States?

If imposed conformity is wrong for a university professor, it is wrong for a general, an admiral or anybody. If imposed conformity is wrong for those who call themselves liberals or progressives, it is wrong for those who call themselves conservatives or moderates or nothing at all. If it is wrong for anybody, it is wrong for everybody.

It is more important that we have overt differences of opinion with ample opportunity for their expression than that we suffer from the suppressive effects of conformity and unity. When we have an intelligent goose-step in this country, it may eliminate all the yak-yak of contentment, but we shall no longer be a thinking or a free people. We shall worship those in office as the German people cringe before any man in a uniform.

Army Pvt. Alton T. Hunt Jr., whose wife, Leona, and parents live near Laurelville, recently joined the 71st Infantry Division in Alaska.

The 71st Division, deactivated in 1946, was recently reactivated and assigned to Alaska, although certain units of the division are located in the continental U. S.

Private Hunt, a member of the 53rd Regiment stationed at Fort Richardson, entered the Army last June and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He is a 1951 graduate of Laurelville High School. In civilian life he was a machinist for the General Electric Plant in Circleville.

Army Sergeant First Class Junior A. Hollenback, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Hollenback, of Ashville Route 2, was one of 77 enlisted members of the U. S. Forces in Austria (USFA) Tactical Command who recently graduated from a military instructors course at Camp McCauley in Linz, Austria.

Emphasizing methods, training aids and classroom speaking, the course is designed to raise the caliber of military instruction in the command.

Sergeant Hollenback, a section section chief with the 150th Field Artillery Battalion, has been in Austria since last September.

In addition to the cash payment, the company also purchased for employees a total of $520,000 in retirement annuities.

Removing Half Of Brain Aid To Epileptics

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Philadelphia surgeon explained how he has been successfully treating stubborn cases of epilepsy and similar kinds of fits by removing half of the brains of children.

One side or the other of the brain is taken out and the cavity is filled with a salt water solution. Eventually body tissues absorb the solution and half the skull remains empty.

The youngsters do not lose any of their intelligence and their fits and antisocial behavior disappear, said Dr. Eugene P. Spitz, of Children's Hospital, Philadelphia.

Dr. Spitz made the report for delivery to the Radiological Society of North America, organization of specialists who work with X-rays and other forms of radiation. The operation is made possible by X-ray pictures showing which half of the brain is affected.

This surgical feat is not new but it had been tried heretofore only in a limited way. Dr. Spitz reported on 16 such operations. Not all of his little patients lived, but in every case, he said, the seizures stopped immediately.

Some of the newer drugs can control effectively 85 per cent of these afflictions, which are known medically as convulsive seizures. But the other 15 per cent remain in serious trouble. They not only have fits but some of them behave violently. Dr. Spitz told of one who attacked a playmate with a butcher knife. Others were sadistic or unduly aggressive.

Continuing Probe Of Poll Planned

COLUMBUS (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown plans a continuing investigation of election errors and claimed irregularities to determine whether they involved fraud.

He asked the state controlling board for $10,000 to hire additional help for the inquiry and another $2,000 for travel expenses. The board withheld action on the request pending a detailed report by Brown on his investigation plans at its meeting next week.

Is There ONE BEST TIME To Buy a Memorial?

Yes, when all the family is around to take part in this important decision. Today the common-sense of pre-need memorial buying is accepted and acted upon all over the country... people are erecting beautiful family memorials before a single piece of ground is actually needed for burial.

You, too, might consider the wisdom of this way of buying a memorial. Visit our display lot across from Forest Cemetery.

New Financing Setup Urged For Schools

Ohio Study Committee Suggests Changes In Foundation Program

COLUMBUS (AP)—A special subcommittee studying school financing has submitted a new state school foundation program to the Ohio School Survey Committee.

The new plan, major feature of the subcommittee's extensive report, is a "one package bill," which would abolish all special appropriations for public schools and consolidate them into one appropriation.

The committee said this will give the General Assembly a more accurate picture of its total provision for schools and also reduce administrative costs.

The study group found Ohio's present school financing program strong in some respects and weak in many others. Their report includes 20 specific recommendations on school financing.

The basic difference in the new foundation plan is that costs would be calculated in terms of teacher or classroom units rather than pupils or units, for every element of the program except transportation.

THE COMMITTEE said advantages of the plan include (1) better measurement of real educational costs; (2) easier calculation of cost in terms of services; and (3) more assurance to the Legislature that all pupils are receiving the benefits of the program.

Foundation costs under the plan include four major categories: (1) Costs for teacher salaries calculated in terms of "allowable teacher units," and the salary allotment schedule; (2) transportation costs calculated to include allowance for equipment depreciation and for unavoidable local variations in transportation costs; (3) costs for other current expenses calculated under a uniform allowance, based on average costs, per teacher unit; and (4) Costs for capital outlay calculated in terms of a uniform allowance per teacher unit based on average building depreciation costs. The committee recommends his amount be calculated by multiplying the total number of teaching units by $600.

Local share of the cost of the foundation program combined total of the four categories would be determined by multiplying the district's assessed valuation by a millage of approximately 10 mills set by the General Assembly. The state's share would be the difference between the local share and the total cost.

Grandma Doss Named As Slayer Of Fifth Person

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP)—A fifth charge of murder was filed yesterday against grandmother Nanie Doss, who confessed to poisoning four of her five husbands.

Sheriff A. A. Pate of Calhoun county announced Mrs. Doss was charged with killing Frank Harrelson, her second husband who died in 1945.

Ernest J. Harrelson, brother of the dead man, signed a first degree murder warrant after Pate disclosed arsenic had been found in the organs of Frank Harrelson. Murder charges against Mrs. Doss have been filed in these: Arlie Lanning, husband No. 3, who died in 1952.

Richard Morton, husband No. 4, who died in 1953.

Samuel Doss, husband No. 5, who died in 1954.

Mrs. Louise H. Hazel, 75, mother of Mrs. Doss, who died in 1953.

Christmas Memories

A Scrapbook Compiled by Clark Kinnaird

A CENTURY ago, a question of a king started a search for the name of the anonymous originators of the beloved song, Silent Night. When the king of Prussia heard the song in December 1854 and asked the name of the composer, no one could tell him immediately. The music had been published without credit to the men who had written the words and music. Months passed before researchers were able to answer the king's question.

The words had been written by Fr. Joseph Mohr, the parish priest at Oberdorf, Austria, on Christmas eve, 1818. They had been set to music by the church's organist, Franz Gruber, and sung for the first time in the church the next day. The organ got out of fix before the Christmas service and Gruber played the accompaniment on a guitar. Gruber was found to be alive, and he confirmed the story of the song's origin. He lived until 1862.

Of numerous translations of Fr. Mohr's words into English, the following is the most popular. The translator is as anonymous as Gruber was when the German king asked his question in 1854.

SILENT NIGHT

Silent night, Holy night!
All is calm, all is bright.
Round yon Virgin Mother and Child,
Holy Infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace—
Sleep in heavenly peace!

Silent night, Holy night!
Shepherds quake at the sight!
Glories stream from heaven afar,
Heav'nly hosts sing Alleluia;
Christ the Saviour is born,
Christ the Saviour is born!

Silent night, Holy night!
Son of God, love pure light,
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth.

Japan Pledges West First Support Before Red Trade

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's new government promised today that continued collaboration with the United States and other non-Communist nations will get first priority over expanding trade with Russia and Red China.

Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu formally enunciated the policy following prime minister Ichiro Hatoyama's first meeting with his cabinet.

Shigemitsu, back in place of power again after being convicted as a World War II criminal, said Japan was willing to restore normal relations with Russia and China so long as such negotiations do not "prejudice our basic collaboration with the free nations."

He added that the new government does not "necessarily expect much from trade with Communist nations at the present juncture but we shall welcome opportunities of expanding the volume which now is rather small."

SHIGEMITSU's statement appeared to bear out predictions of Japanese editors, writers and politicians that the Hatoyama government actually expects to accomplish little, if anything, in promoting trade with the Reds before the promised dissolution of the Diet in January.

To get the leftwing votes necessary to elect him Thursday, Hatoyama had to promise Japan's Socialist he would dissolve the Diet

Fatal Shooting Follows Tiff In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—The argument was all over when two policemen arrived at a cafe here last night, but then the shooting started.

Police Sgt. William J. Kahoe and Patrolman Henry C. DeZort learned from patrons in the cafe that the man who had argued and waved a gun was outside.

On the sidewalk they found Samuel Willford, 26. The officers said when they tried to arrest him, Willford drew a revolver and wounded DeZort in the leg.

As Willford ran, Kahoe dropped to his knee and shot him several times in the back. Willford fell dead in the street.

The cafe owner, Marion Motley, former fullback for the Cleveland Browns professional football team, told police Willford had started the argument by claiming Motley owed him $1 after playing a mechanical bowling game. Motley refused to give Willford the money and asked him to leave.

Motley said Willford left, but returned with a gun and waved it about, demanding the dollar. Motley said he gave the money to Willford, who left just before the officers arrived.

Willford, who lived several blocks from the cafe, was unemployed. His brother, William, 28, witnessed the shooting.

State Prepares Sheppard Attack

Accused Doctor Tells Jury He Couldn't Possibly Have Killed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard braced himself today for the state's attack on his emphatic assertion he did not kill his wife, and that "I couldn't have done such a thing."

He says he was happily married to Marilyn Sheppard. And he feels sure that "Marilyn is in my corner."

But one name, Susan Hayes, still confronts the dark, good-looking osteopath. Miss Hayes, a laboratory technician, has admitted having intimate relations with him for more than a year.

For a day and a half, Sheppard testified in his own defense against a charge of first-degree murder. He made only brief references to

Miss Hayes. He said his wife was not disturbed when he told her he had given Miss Hayes a watch.

Prosecution attorneys are ready to cross-question Sheppard's whole story. The state contends he murdered his wife last July 4 and that his motive grew out of his extramarital relations.

MARILYN SHEPPARD, a 31-year-old expectant mother, was beaten to death in bed. The doctor, 30, testified he ran to the bedroom when he heard her cries, and was slugged unconscious by the killer.

He says Cleveland detectives accused him of the murder in the first stages of the investigation. He described one grilling that lasted nearly 3 hours, conducted by four pairs of officers.

They tried to break down his story, he told the jury.

Sheppard said the detectives tried to confuse him, cursed him and insulted his family, and mentioned "accomplices." They expressed doubt, he said, that he was the father of his unborn child.

And in trying to talk him into a confession, he said, they discussed light prison sentences sometimes given for a plea of manslaughter, a lesser charge than first-degree murder.

"I told them I couldn't confess to something I didn't do," he said. In a graphic pantomime, Sheppard showed the jury how a detective simulated the terrible blows that were rained on Marilyn's head.

He rolled a piece of long yellow paper into a cylinder and said of the officer:

"He'd put his hands over his head like this . . ." Sheppard raised the paper club with both hands. "And bring them down like this. . ."

"AND HE WOULD say, 'down down, down, down, down!' Sheppard shouted the word five times, each time with a simulated blow.

"I told him I didn't do it," he continued. "I told him I couldn't do it to any human or animal. I told him I couldn't possibly have done such a thing under any circumstances."

Another officer, he said, asked him how he could go through the ordeal of a trial.

"I told him that I still had faith in the truth and I had faith in God and Marilyn was with me," Sheppard said he replied.

He said he felt sure "Marilyn is in my corner."

Navy Launches Its Big Carrier, USS Forrestal

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The Navy today dramatized its bid for a major combat role in its jet-atomic age in formally launching the giant aircraft carrier Forrestal, biggest warship ever built.

The still unfinished Forrestal awaited a christening ceremony at which Mrs. James Forrestal, widow of the first secretary of defense, was scheduled to break the traditional bottle of champagne against the towering stem of the 1,036-foot carrier.

The big ship (she will displace 59,600 tons without fuel, ammunition, planes or stores and probably 76,000 tons fully loaded) is designed to carry atomic bombers on far-ranging missions.

The Forrestal also is the costliest combatant ship ever—$197,869,000 when fully fitted with antiaircraft weapons, electronic equipment and other gear. This does not include the estimated cost of planes for the carrier—about $175 million.

George H. Bender, Cleveland Republican, ran up a 37,296 vote plurality in Hamilton County. A partial recount in Hamilton and 24 other counties cut Bender's victory margin from 6,041 to 2,970. The Hamilton county results were not changed materially.

Herald Begins Yule Feature

The widely known writer, Clark Kinnaird, has written a series of 12 pre-Christmas features for The Herald.

They are titled, "Christmas Memories," and the first of the series appears on Page One of today's issue.

The material has been prepared in attractive scrapbook form, all ready for clipping by those who want to save the authoritative and interesting information on mankind's greatest celebration. Today's scrapbook piece deals with the origin of the beloved song, "Silent Night," and how the name of the composer was nearly lost to history.

Dem Solon Set To Open Fire

Gore 'Tired' Of Ike's 'Bad Advice' Excuse

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said today he is "tired of excusing" some of President Eisenhower's actions on grounds of "bad advice."

Gore said this in endorsing a call by Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, for criticism of Eisenhower, but without "vilification."

Butler, a South Bend, Ind., lawyer picked in New Orleans last week to succeed Stephen A. Mitchell as head of the Democratic committee, told his first Washington news conference yesterday:

"I will never vilify the President, as Sen. McCarthy has this week, but all the roars of Chairman Hall and other Republicans will not deter me from calling attention to the failures of the President."

Butler referred here to McCarthy's statement earlier this week in which he accused Eisenhower of a "shrinking show of weakness" in dealing with communism.

HE ALSO REFERRED to GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall's retort last Monday to a Butler remark that Eisenhower had shown "a lack of capacity" to lead. Hall said that Butler's criticism meant the Democrats had "thrown in the ash can" their pledge to cooperate with the President.

Gore said he concurs fully in the course charted by Butler.

"Most of us criticize the actions and the record of the President of the United States with reluctance," Gore said, "but our system of government will fail unless those holding office are held responsible for the actions of their administration."

"I, for one, have reached the point where I am tired of excusing some of the President's actions on the ground that he has received bad advice. He, himself, must be held responsible for what his administration does."

Mitchell Urges Ohio Poll Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, says there should be "a full Senate investigation" of the Hamilton County election in Ohio.

Supporters of Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D-Ohio), who was defeated in the Nov. 2 election, have charged there were irregularities in Hamilton County tabulations.

George H. Bender, Cleveland Republican, ran up a 37,296 vote plurality in Hamilton County. A partial recount in Hamilton and 24 other counties cut Bender's victory margin from 6,041 to 2,970. The Hamilton county results were not changed materially.

Ike Plans Moving

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower reportedly is planning to change his voting residence soon from New York to Gettysburg, Pa., where he and Mrs. Eisenhower are building a new farm home.

O'Neill Gets Post

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill of Ohio is the new president of the Association of Attorneys General of the States and Territories. O'Neill was elected yesterday at an annual meeting here.

WITH CHRISTMAS just around the corner, Mrs. William Doerr wonders what is in store for the eight children gathered about her in their Pittsburgh home. Her husband has been out of work as the result of an injury, and the family furniture is supposed to be sold at a con stable's sale to meet back rent. Yet, Mrs. Doerr believes that Santa Claus will find a way to visit them.

Gen. Van Fleet Withdraws All Support Of McCarthy

AUBURNDALE, Fla. (AP)—Gen. Van Fleet has broken with Sen. Joseph McCarthy over the Wisconsin senator's statement against President Eisenhower.

Van Fleet, who was a member of the committee which went after (and failed to get) 10 million signatures of persons backing McCarthy in his fight against censure before the U. S. Senate, sent McCarthy a telegram yesterday renouncing his support.

The telegram said: "I am shocked by your bitter attack against the President of the United States, a full copy of which I have read today on arrival home."

"In the past, I have supported you in your fight against international communism but never have agreed with your methods. This last attack on our great President causes me to withdraw all support."

Van Fleet, former commander of the 8th Army in Korea, said he considered McCarthy's talks during the hearing "insulting and blistering."

He said that McCarthy had done some good, adding:

"I'm against communism. He's against communism. So that basis alone gave him my support. But I cannot stand for his attack on the President."

Van Fleet was listed as committeeman in the "10,000,000 Americans mobilized for Justice." General chairman of the drive was Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer of Winter Park, Fla., retired Far East Air Force Commander. Director of the drive was retired Adm. John G. Crommelin.

The committee reported it failed by far to get ten million backers for McCarthy. Instead, it collected 2,283,143 signatures against censure of the Republican senator. The Senate voted by three to one to condemn McCarthy for his behavior.

Lima Man, 22, Killed Trying To Halt Tavern Holdup

LIMA (AP)—A 22-year-old Lima man was killed last night when he tried to prevent a $2,000 holdup of a south side tavern.

Dead is John Rogery Mooney, an Army veteran. Officers said Mooney turned on one gunman in an attempt to take his gun after three masked men entered the cafe about midnight.

Mooney was one of five customers in the tavern when the gunmen entered, two wearing handkerchiefs over their faces. The third wore a black hood.

Investigators said the hooded man ordered customers and bartender Philip L. Martino to sit on bar stools. After that order, Mooney lunged for one of the men's weapons and was shot twice.

Police said the three men then emptied the cash register, stripped customers of their cash and escaped with an estimated $2,000.

Pope Continues To Get Better

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Vatican source said today Pope Pius XII passed "a fairly good night."

The pope is still seriously ill from the gastric ailment that apparently brought him close to death nine days ago. But he has been slowly gaining strength.

He sat up to eat once yesterday and took a few brief walks on the arm of his private physician. On one of his excursions, he surprised an aide in his apartment by coming in to see his pet goldfinches.

"Obviously they feel better than I do," a source reported him saying with a smile.

Assembly Tells Secretary To Start Efforts

Hammarskjold Presses Immediate Steps To Talk To Chinese Reds

UNITED NATIONS N. Y. (AP)—Backed by an overwhelming mandate from the U. N. Assembly, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold began efforts today to win freedom for American airmen held by Red China as spies.

Hammarskjold quickly accepted his mission after the Assembly yesterday approved, 47-5, a resolution introduced by the United States and its 15 Korean Allies condemning peeping for jailing the fliers and demanding their release.

The vote was taken after two days of bitter East-West debate. The only opposing ballots were cast by the five-nation Soviet bloc which fought the item every step of the way. Yugoslavia and six Arab-Asian states abstained, apparently because of the clause condemning Peiping.

The Assembly poll originally stood at 45-6, but delegates for Costa Rica and El Salvador who got caught in a cross-town traffic jam and missed the ballot later persuaded Assembly President Elio N. van Kieffens to record them as supporting the resolution.

HAMMARSKJOLD is known to consider the task entrusted to him as one of the greatest challenges to face a secretary general since the U. N. began work eight years ago. He told the assembly "I will do all in my power to serve the interests of the organization." A spokesman said later Hammarskjold was "taking immediate steps" to carry out the mandate.

"For the present," the spokesman said, "he believes it would not serve the purposes of the resolution to make any public pronouncements as to what these steps are. He hopes to be shortly in a position to say something further for publication."

Bitter Soviet resistance to the resolution and repeated claims by Russia's Jacob Malik and his colleagues that the airmen were "spies" who got their just deserts, gave scant hope of any help from the Kremlin.

But Hammarskjold was seen conferring with Malik after the Assembly vote, arousing speculation that he might be sounding out the Russians on the case.

'Secret' Red Text Found In Bookstores

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The sedition trial of Carl Braden went into its twelfth day today after his defense introduced an exact duplicate of a book the prosecution claims could have belonged to Braden only if he was a Communist party functionary.

Henry Goodman, a copyreader for the Courier-Journal, Dr. Louis C. Kesselman, chairman of the political science department at the University of Louisville, and John F. Bennett, an English instructor at Indiana University, testified they purchased copies of the document in open bookstores in Chicago, Boston and Columbus.

The three swore they are not now and never have been Communists. The book in question is a Moscow-printed copy of "The Constitution and Fundamental Laws of the U.S.S.R."

The 40-year-old Braden, also a copyreader for the Courier-Journal on leave, is the first of six white defendants slated for trial for advocating sedition.

The six, including Braden's wife, were indicted following an investigation of the dynamiting of a Negro's home in a white neighborhood. Braden had bought the house and transferred the deed to the Negro, Andrew Wade IV, just before the blast last June.

Fine Weather Said Headache For Ohio Cities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Numerous Ohio city officials now are complaining of financial headaches that developed because of unusually good weather in the fall of 1953.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes explained the seeming paradox this way:

Favorable weather last fall enabled municipalities to extend their street maintenance programs long past the time when bad weather usually halts such work.

As a result, cities and villages spent more than usual in 1953 from gasoline tax and motor vehicle license funds received from the state.

With money running out and overdrafts imminent, local clerks, auditors and finance officers sent out SOS calls. They begged Rhodes to squeeze out an extra distribution of funds to pay their street maintenance and repair bills so they could end 1953 in the black.

Rhodes looked in his check book and found he could help. He made a distribution last Dec. 29 to some 900 municipalities equal to half the normal amount sent out.

Gas tax distributions usually equal $1 for each motor vehicle registered in municipalities. The extra distribution equalled 50 cents a vehicle. It saved the day for worried fiscal officers and increased the holiday joy in many a city hall.

It also set the stage for the present headaches.

In January, when most municipalities approve annual appropriations, many followed the practice of allocating for 1954 the same amounts they received during 1953 from gasoline tax and motor vehicle licenses.

They apparently overlooked the fact that gas tax money sent them on Dec. 29 normally would have been received in January, 1954. As a result, they appropriated more, spent more or encumbered more money than they will receive this year.

Harassed officials now are making year-end appeals for Rhodes to open his check book again. But the auditor says unfortunately the money isn't available.

Cleveland officials said even a distribution equal to 25 cents a vehicle would be welcome. Rhodes only shook his head.

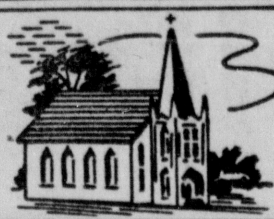

He reported a final distribution of more than $3,000,000 in gas tax money this week to municipalities, counties and townships. And he said a third distribution of 1954 motor vehicle license funds would be made this month. That distribution will total more than $5,800,000 to local governments but municipalities will receive only about a 34 per cent share.

Money from gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license fees goes into the road and bridge funds of counties and townships.

Church Of Christ Hears Sermon On Realizing Of Hopes

"So Near And Yet So Far" is announced as the sermon topic for the Church of Christ Sunday meeting at 159 E. Main St.

In this lesson there will be given a number of Bible examples of some who came very near to realizing their hopes and ambitions, who traveled well the first part of their journey, but failed finally because of some defect or sin in their life.

Moses was chosen by God to lead his people out of the land of Egyptian bondage and into the promised land of Canaan. He made a wonderful start in complying with God's every command, but at one point in his life he failed. On one occasion, when the Israelites were in the wilderness, God instructed Moses to speak to the rock and bring water forth for the people to drink. Instead of this Moses smote the rock twice.

"God said, 'Because ye believed me not, to sanctify me in the eyes of the children of Israel, therefore ye shall not bring this congregation into the land which I have given them' (Num. 20:7-12). Therefore, when Moses came down to the end of life's day God restrained him from entering into the promised land of Canaan. He took him up onto the top of Mt. Nebo and showed him all of the land. It must have been a sad occasion for Moses as he wistfully looked at the beautiful land and realized that he could not enter in.

"This same experience may in a sense be repeated in the lives of many people. There are those who have lived good moral lives and engaged in many good deeds with the happy anticipation of entering into Heaven with all of its joys someday. Yet, many of these same people will be turned away from the gate because of a failure on their part to fully and completely obey the gospel of Christ. Jesus said, 'Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.' (Mt. 7:21).

Bible Words To Live By

PSALM 121:1—"I will lift up my eyes."

The Psalmist here is offering a most vital suggestion that is timeless. Man's morale is often shattered because he has the view of a worm instead of the view of a bird that looks constantly on high. A worm is aware only of the ground beneath him; the rest of the world is unnoticed. And although the whole wide world be a luxurious bed, a real "heaven", for worms, the worm roasting on a parched pavement thinks the whole world is "hell"! And so is its life.

Similarly, a man has his troubles (he's lonely; he's failed in his job; he's made a foolish mistake; he's been assigned to a job he doesn't like) and as a consequence his attention is so wrapped up in his troubles that, like the worm, he sees these and nothing more. They discolor his whole world. Yet, like the worm, if he but looked up to the possibilities of his total life, he would find for himself a world so rich and satisfying as to cause his present trouble to slip in importance into their small and proper place.

What a man needs is not a worm's view of life, but a bird's view of his world. He needs to see not only his speck of trouble, which discolours his whole life, but the broad expanse of his world as a bird sees the broad flowing fields. Then he knows that, although he has troubles and desert wastes, he also has grounds for hope and thanksgiving: mother, father, wife or sweetheart, memories and aspirations, sunsets and moonlights, dreams and plans and purposes, God Himself, fertile fields, rich harvests of countless colors and flavors. What a man needs to keep his spirit high is a broad outlook, a full perspective, an elevated view of life.

It goes without saying that a man needs the help of the Almighty to keep an elevated view of life and discover as the Psalmist did, "My help cometh from the Lord." Regular attendance at the church of one's choice will greatly aid one in seeing the world in its proper perspective, rather than seeing it as a worm sees it. Make regular worship a habit.

INSERT STARS

There is always something to deter one on the way, some obstacle to cause one some delay. One should learn early in the Christian life to depend upon God and not be carried about with every kind of doctrine. The text suggests that one have some positive convictions and stick with them. There are always those who would hold one back, the enemy is ever lurking, just waiting to attack.

My godly mother implanted this principle in my young life while a lad on the farm. I was taught to make up my mind, to be mature, never whining about conditions, but jump in and change conditions. Give us more men of maturity for our day.

SPIRE in the SNOW

Next time you see a church standing in the snow, its spire raised to the winter sky, think how hard it was to attend Sunday services in your grandfather's day.

Then it was a matter of getting up in the cold chill of early morning, hitching up horse and sled, and jingling across the countryside with sharp icicles of wind stinging your cheeks. Yet few stayed at home because of the weather.

Today, it is relatively easy for all of us to get to Church. Whether we live in the city or in the country, modern transportation can bring us conveniently to the very doors of the Church. Yet we are far more apt to stay home than grandfather was.

Grandfather realized there was so much to be gained by making his pilgrimage through the snow that only sickness could have kept him at home. He knew that few experiences were richer than worshipping in the church of his choice each Sunday morning. If we stop to think... and if we're honest with ourselves... we'll know it too.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SUICIDAL WEAPON

THAT THERE WILL ultimately be no defense whatever against nuclear warfare is suggested by accounts of the "I.B.M." missile now being improved. It will carry atomic or hydrogen warheads, will travel at speeds in excess of 4,000 miles per hour and at a range of 5,000 miles will have an error of perhaps four to eight miles.

The United States and Russia are expected to have this weapon perfected sometime between 1962 and 1965, perhaps sooner. When this ghastly instrument is finished, the aggressor possessing it can aim and fire. It will presumably explode near enough to targets across oceans to destroy or immobilize a wide strategic area. Deadly nuclear radiation would spread out over a still wider area.

The nation attacked, if a powerful nation like the United States in possession of the weapon, would then counterattack. Two great nations would be ruined, perhaps not to rise again. This will nullify all previous defense concepts and leave all people naked to attack.

When that time comes, if it does, the human race will have the choice between survival and suicide. The choice will be survival and the way to effect the choice will be the containment of power-mad leaders who would use any weapon to gratify their lust. Ways must be found of protecting the world against a few who might destroy it.

GLOBAL SANTA

SANTA CLAUS is digging into the stock of his surplus food hoard to make this Christmas a little more memorable, and less hungry for needy families in 44 countries throughout the world. The first of 6 million holiday food packages, each bearing the legend in appropriate language, "Donation of the People of the United States," are already on their way to Europe.

Continental countries are ticketed to get 2½ million of the gift boxes, with 1½ million earmarked for the Far East, and 1 million each to Middle Asia and Latin America.

Loaded into a typical package, worth about $4.50 in U. S. money, are butter, cheese, dried milk and dried beans, in pound quantities each. Also included are three pounds of rice, five pounds of flour, a pound of shortening and a pound of canned beef and gravy. With the exception of the beef, all the items are from surplus stocks.

The Foreign Operations Administration has charge of the massive chore of assembling, packing and shipping the mountain of provender. Once arrived at their destination the packages will be distributed by the U. S. armed forces and numerous American volunteer agencies.

It is said that Uncle Sam plays Santa Claus to the world. Here is evidence of it.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Senator Mike Mansfield is generally regarded as a Liberal with a big L. A Liberal used to be defined as a person who believed in an increase in the liberties of the individual man, David Hume, the philosopher who so affected the thought which brought our country into existence, defined liberty as follows:

"...By liberty, then, we can only mean a power of acting or not acting, according to the determinations of the will; this is, if we choose to remain at rest, we may; if we choose to move, we also may. Now this hypothetical liberty is universally allowed to belong to every one who is not a prisoner and in chains."

When therefore Senator Mansfield would deprive a retired Army or Navy officer of the right to speak his mind or join a cause, of his own free will and at his own risk, he would deprive him of his liberty.

Edmund Burke made the point that "among a people generally corrupt, liberty cannot long exist," which is why the Marxists find themselves in difficulties because they have permitted themselves to be corrupted by enslavement to a discipline and a conspiracy and reject the doctrine of free will by the acceptance of mental and moral regimentation. It is precisely this regimentation that must be fought off in the United States.

Senator Mansfield takes the position that military officers have been "taken care of" from the time they enter West Point or Annapolis until they are buried in Arlington National Cemetery. He said: "They should not lend their good names and prestige to movements which are contrary to the best interests of the United States."

He would deprive such men of their liberty and force them to conform to some dictated but temporary view because they once were employed by the Government of the United States. Such a position makes employment a liability because it reduces such a person to secondary citizenship. Can anyone imagine General Douglas MacArthur being silenced because he was for half a century employed in the United States Army?

In the matter of John Paton Davies, Jr., it does not seem to be reasonable that the State Department should withhold the money due him—or for that matter of anyone else—unless he signs a contract gagging him. Is money worth that much? He has the right, as a person and a citizen, to devote his life to the defense of his integrity. We grant that right to a murderer, a rapist, a thief, a spy. Shall we refuse that right to a man because he was in the employ of the State Department?

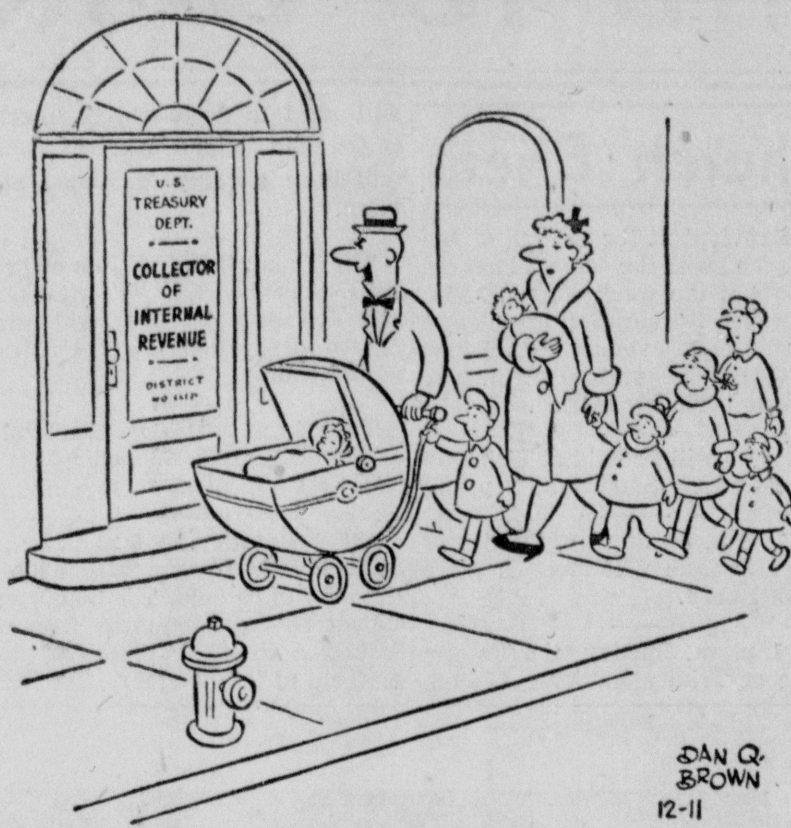

Let us consider two hypothetical cases: 1. Suppose John Paton Davies, Jr., wishes to fight his case on the thesis that he was asked to do certain things by the CIA or by the State Department and that whatever he did was only in fulfillment of his duty. Shall he be deprived of the right to try to prove such a defense? Is he not entitled to document such a case if he can? Is he forever to bear the stigma of rejection without the opportunity to clear himself?

I do not know whether Davies can clear himself, but he is entitled to the possibility. (Continued on Page Eight)

Health Is Safeguarded With New Medications

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MEDICAL science makes great strides each month in developing new medications and treatments to protect the health of you and your children. Among the latest advances are:

Hydrocortisone: a modification of the drug cortisone, which has been used so effectively in the treatment of arthritis, and many other disorders. In helping bring relief to arthritis victims, it can be injected directly into painful joints and also into connective tissues.

Low Back Pain: It has also helped bring relief of low back pain due to fibrositis, which is an inflammation of the connective tissues, such as the ligaments.

Serpasil: a preparation derived from a plant known as Rauwolfia serpentina. It is used to control hypertension and nervous pressure in general. It has been helpful in calming and soothing patients under strain. Excellent results have been obtained when given to psychotic persons in a state of anxiety.

Antihistamine Relative: Chlorpromazine: A drug related chemically to the antihistamines. Demonstrations have shown it aids in relaxing muscles, relieving itching, lowering body temperature and increasing the effectiveness of analgesics.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
E. G.: I have been bothered for years with perspiring hands. Can you advise me what to do?
Answer: Excessive sweating of the palms may be an indication of some general disorder, such as an infection or perhaps even difficulty with the thyroid gland. In many cases, it is a localized condition, the cause for which cannot be determined.

There is no treatment which is of any particular value. Of course, a careful search should be made for the cause, so that it can be eliminated just as soon as it is discovered.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

EARLY the next morning Hester knocked on Jennie's door. She was wearing a black suit, even gloves. "I'm driving down to Saranac, Jenn. I had a letter yesterday from Anne Babbitt, one of my friends, saying she was stopping there and suggesting that I join her. Is there anything I can pick up for you on the way back? Mail or anything?"

"No, thanks. Your headache has gone?"

"Oh, yes—it was rest I needed." Then Hester said: "Jennie, about your doors. You don't know how glad I am that I've persuaded you not to bolt them to dismiss your story?"

Jennie could have told her sister that she had nothing to do with it but she kept silent, and Hester went on in a tone of giving a reward: "Some day you and I'll drive down to the mountains!"

"That will be nice," said Jennie. She heard Hester drive out of the yard. Almost at once Cindy tapped on her door. "Do you think I could let Nip and Tuck out now?"

"Enid's told her of her mother's aversion to cats," thought Jennie. "Yes, but I'd watch them."

Enid joined Cindy in the watching. From her kitchen Jennie saw the two girls sitting in the barn doorway. Cindy appeared to be doing the talking; Enid sat hugging her knees, her chin propped against them. Jennie was struck with the contrast between the two girls—a reserve in Enid that made her seem much older than Cindy, a vividness in Cindy's face that made Enid's plain. Yet in one thing they were alike—they both had life ahead of them, to make of it what they wished!

Cindy was doing most of the talking, as she and Enid sat in the barn doorway, partly because Enid did not appear inclined to say anything and partly because it was good to go on and on, after these days when she had had no one but herself to talk to. Except Gary Norbeck, that little while at the pool.

She did not think of Enid as a cousin but rather as another girl, only a little older than herself. Different—she recognized Enid's clothes, even the slacks and loose blouse she was wearing now, as far more expensive than her own, yet she did not think Enid was snooty or even standoffish, just uncommunicative.

"I've met this man who lives over in the woods. I met him at the creek..." With a little giggle, Cindy told of the circumstances of that meeting. "First I thought he was an awful sourpuss—but he isn't—he's really nice—he came up and dug my garden."

for me that afternoon you came—he brought me some seeds. And he wants to paint my portrait!"

"He was painting it..." Then Enid stopped, abruptly.

Cindy stared at her, incredulously, her eyes accusing. "How do you know?"

"I stopped at his cabin to ask my way across the creek. I saw the canvas on the easel."

"But I haven't posed yet for him!" There was a wail of disappointment in Cindy's voice. She asked: "Did you like him?"

"I don't know—I haven't thought whether I did or not."

At that Cindy's face brightened. Enid couldn't have spoken more than a word or two with Gary Norbeck or she'd be thinking something about him! "And I'll bet he didn't ask her if he could paint her picture!"

Early that evening Jennie saw Ed Pauly drive into the yard, get out of his car, holding a yellow envelope in his hand, stand a moment looking over the house, then approach her door.

She opened it.

"Evening, Miss Todd. Nice evening. Telegram for Miss Enid Wilmer."

"I'll see if she is in her wing."

No one answered her knock or her call. She said: "She may be outside. I'll take you to her!" She went past him, out of the door, alarm in the hurry of her step.

In her experience a telegram always contained bad news—this might concern Enid's father. In the few seconds it took to lead Ed Pauly around the house she was remembering that on those rare and brief visits at Hester's, she had liked Hubert Wilmer.

Enid was with Cindy. They were struggling to chop some kindling. "Enid! Mr. Pauly—he brought a telegram for you!"

Enid put down the hatchet. "For me?"

"Yes, miss. It came more'n an hour back. Says in it to deliver by taxi and that's me." He put the envelope into Enid's hand.

Jennie watched Enid's face as she opened it. But she saw no shock come to it. Enid read it through twice, then she folded it and put it back in the pocket of her slacks.

"What do I owe you, Mr. Pauly?"

He told her, and she went to the house and got the money.

When Pauly left, Jennie said to Enid, something of her sudden nervousness in her voice: "Your mother—shouldn't she be back before dark?"

Enid patted the pocket in which she had put the telegram. "She isn't coming back tonight. She is staying a few days with these friends in Saranac."

news behind the news

Editor's Note: Every Saturday, Mr. Tucker answers readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent to him at 7008 Hillcrest lace, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—"Why did Senate Democrats vote unanimously against Senator McCarthy in the censure matter?" asks G. K., of Springfield, Mass.

Answer: Although the Democrats did not caucus on the McCarthy question, thus making it compulsory for each member to condemn, it was virtually a point of party pride and prestige with them. The Wisconsin senator had repeatedly branded the Democrats, insofar as the Roosevelt and Truman years were concerned, as the "Party of Treason."

Several senators on that side frequently recalled how the Republicans had branded the Democrats as the "bloody shirt" party after the Civil War—a political tag which contributed heavily to the many GOP Presidential victories from 1860 to 1912. Only

Grover Cleveland broke the spell.

ON GUARD—In the McCarthy charges, as well as in Vice-President Nixon's recent campaign speeches, the Democrats discerned another attempt to smear their party as having been too soft on Communists. Had the tag, "Party of Treason," been attached successfully, it might have operated against the Democrats as effectively as the "bloody shirt" campaign cry.

McCarthy had expected a few votes from the other side of the aisle, and failure to receive them was a personal disappointment. He had anticipated a pro-McCarthy vote of at least 30, as against the final 22 in his favor. "Will you please explain," writes C. C., of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., "what the Genocide act is. Has it been ratified by the United States?"

Answer: Although my copy of the pact seems to have escaped my files, the general terms declare against and provide punishment for mistreatment of minorities that would cause "mental or physical anguish." The declaration was designed to take cognizance of and prevent a repetition of Hitler's persecution of non-Nordic racial groups.

NOT RATIFIED—It has not been ratified by the Senate, and it will not be. Not even the State Department under Dean Acheson favored acceptance by the United States. If it were to be ratified, some lawyers contend that it could be invoked to convict anybody who assaults an individual of a so-called minority, of which there are many in the United States.

In fact, our country is made up of minorities, as the politicians recognize and demonstrate by their election time behavior.

"You report that millions of pounds of butter owned by the government," writes A. V. V., address ungiven, "are being shipped overseas. There are many Americans using margarine because they can't afford butter. Why doesn't the government sell its butter at a low price to Americans?"

Answer: The government has bought millions of pounds of butter in order to maintain the price in the marketplace. If it sold it in huge quantities, the price would be broken and the purpose of the purchase would be defeated.

FAILURE—Agriculture Secretary Benson has tried unsuccessfully to devise a plan for getting rid of the surplus without depressing the price. Meanwhile, he siphons it to the Defense Forces at a low figure, to foreign hungry and to schools.

"I am planning a one-woman crusade for Senator Stuart Symington for President," C. W. A., of Christiana, Ala., informs me. "What chance do you think he has?"

Answer: When I prepped in politics under a veteran New York editor many years ago, he told me that any public figure with two or three people behind him must be recognized as a political comer. Good luck, although the popular Missourian has not yet served sufficient apprenticeship in politics.

Miami Tackle Tops League's Honor Team

Annual Mid-American Conference All-Star '11' Paced By Redskins

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tom Jones, Miami University's huge senior tackle from Cincinnati, rated by many as the equal of any lineman in the country—was the standout today as The Associated Press picked its 1954 all-star team from Mid-American Conference schools.

The 6-foot 5-inch, 242-pound stalwart was the unanimous choice of the coaches in the league balloting, and was awarded the team captaincy.

Three other hotshots of the champion Miami squad moved into first team berths along with Jones, with Toledo and Kent State getting two spots and Bowling Green, Marshall and Ohio University one each.

Miami's cunning and youthful mentor, Ara Parseghian, was named the conference's outstanding coach, with Jones the No. 1 lineman and Mel Triplett of Toledo the best back.

With Jones leading the way, the front wall averages 213 from end to end.

The backfield is a dream. The ball-toting corps is engineered by quarterback Dick Hunter of Miami, who completed 14 of 20 passes for 226 yards and three touchdowns and piloted the Redskins to a 47.5-yard average on the ground and in the air.

At halfback are the loop's leading scorers and ground gainers, Lou Mariano of Kent State and Erland Ahlberg of Ohio U. Mariano gained 600 yards rushing in 60 tries, and scored 38 points in five league games, while Ahlberg scored 48 in seven games as he gained 579 in 86 rushes.

Triplett, tied for third in scoring with 30 points in 5 contests, was also third in ground gained with 517 yards in 38 blasts at the line.

The 1954 Mid-American Conference all-star team:

FIRST TEAM
Ends: Jack Hecker of Bowling Green, Mel Baker of Miami.

Tackles: Joe Barbee of Kent State, Tom Jones of Miami.

Guards: Stan Jones of Miami, Albion Maier of Marshall.

Center: George Machoukas of Toledo.

Quarterback: Dick Hunter of Miami.

Halfbacks: Erland Ahlberg of Ohio U., Lou Mariano of Kent State.

Fullback: Mel Triplett of Toledo.

SECOND TEAM
Ends: Luke Owens of Kent State, John Berryman of Western Michigan.

Tackles: Roger Seisel of Miami, James Walker of Western Michigan.

Guards: John Schwab of Ohio U., Russ Giganti of Miami.

Center: Dick Mattern of Miami.

Quarterback: Bill Frederick of Ohio U.

Halfbacks: Fred Freeman of Marshall, Bob Wallace of Miami.

Fullback: Bob Bronston of Miami.

Buckeye Band Going To Bowl

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State University's famed marching band will accompany the Big Ten football champions to the Rose Bowl for the New Year's Day clash with Southern Cal.

The state controlling board notified OSU Business Manager Jacob Taylor it would approve expenses of sending the band as well as the

Cincy Bearcats Dominate All-Ohio College Eleven

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati's Bearcats won the heavy end of the laurels today as coaches, sports writers and broadcasters named the 1954 All-Ohio college football team.

Sid Gillman's club, although beaten by Miami, won 7 of the top 22 places while Ara Parseghian's Redskins were winning three berths. But Parseghian wound up in a tie with Ashland's Bob Brownson as the coaches and scribes tried to decide which had done the better coaching job.

Miami, winner over Indiana and beaten only by resurgent Dayton, also won the team captaincy with Tom Jones, the Redskins' 6-5, 242-pound tackle, who was voted the state's No. 1 lineman, Mel Triplett, Toledo's great fullback, was named the ace ball-carrier.

Independent teams — Cincinnati, Dayton, John Carroll, Youngstown and Xavier — were awarded 13 of the 22 top positions, with eight going to Mid-American Conference teams and one to an Ohio Conference player. The latter was Walt Livingston of Heidelberg, second team halfback.

Although Miami was held to three selections among the first 22, the Redskins came up with six more in the honorable mention list — indicating that Parseghian did a great job with not too many outstanding individual stars.

Well up in the "top coach" voting were Dayton's Hugh Devore, Heidelberg's Paul Hoerneman, Gillman, Youngstown's Dike Beede, and Toledo's Frosty England.

Brownson, who tied with Parseghian, was last year's Ohio high school coach of the year after piloting Portsmouth to an unbeaten untied season and second place in the state ratings. This year he won seven straight with an Ashland team which had won only one game in the last two campaigns.

Here's how the voters rated the All-Ohio stars:

FIRST TEAM
Ends: Glen Dillhoff of Cincinnati, Jim Katsavage of Dayton.

Tackles: Tom Jones of Miami, Bob Garcar of Youngstown.

Guards: Jim Shafer of Dayton, John Byrne of John Carroll.

Center: George Machoukas of Toledo.

Quarterback: Mike Murphy of Cincinnati.

Halfbacks: Ricky Goist of Cincinnati, Erland Ahlberg of Ohio U.

Fullback: Mel Triplett of Toledo

SECOND TEAM
Ends: Mel Baker of Miami, Don Delsignore of Youngstown.

Tackles: Francis Sweeney of Xavier, Noel Guyot of Cincinnati.

Guards: John Schwab of Ohio U., Jack Campbell of Cincinnati.

Center: Dave Faulkner of Cincinnati.

Quarterback: Dick Hunter of Miami.

Halfbacks: Lou Mariano of Kent State, Walt Livingston of Heidelberg.

Utah '5' Looks Mighty Powerful

DENVER (AP)—If you can take nonconference records as an indication, the rave notices about the University of Utah before the start of the basketball season were right.

Coach Jack Gardner's Utes now have won five games in a row, including last night's smartly styled 77-44 victory over the University of Arizona.

Utah probably will have to fight off Wyoming for the Skyline Conference championship, but Brigham Young, another perennial contender, doesn't seem to have it.

team to California. Taylor's request ended speculation the band might not make the trip.

Steady Prices Seen In 1955 For Eggs, Broilers, Turkeys

ROUNDUP

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

An Ohio State University extension economist predicts 1955 egg, broiler and turkey prices will be about the same or slightly lower than in 1954.

Robert Schwartz says there will be about four percent more laying hens on farms January 1 than a year ago. Unless flock culling increases, egg production will be larger from now until April than it was last year. Egg prices in March and April will probably be lower than a year ago.

Egg prices may improve by mid-1955 if the number of replacement pullets next Spring is low enough to make egg storage seem profitable. However, the relation of feed to egg prices is not likely to improve, Schwartz adds. He says broiler placements in 13 commercial producing areas are running about eight percent above 1954 placements. He sees little chance of a decline in broiler production or a rise in broiler prices.

Broiler raising is highly specialized so buildings and equipment can't be readily converted to other uses. It is generally financed so that the farmer furnishes the buildings, equipment and labor. The financier furnishes chicks, feed, fuel and some other cash costs. The farmer receives a percent of the returns above these cash costs, or he receives a set amount per week per thousand chicks.

Specialization plus the inability of the industry to predict prices causes farmers and financiers to spread the production almost uniformly through the year. They feel too that lowering production lets benefits accrue to those who continue heavy production.

Present low turkey prices may bring about a smaller crop for 1955. Schwartz advises turkey raisers to watch the prospective supply of hatching eggs and early poult orders. A record 1954 crop of 61 million birds forced prices about 6 cents lower than last year.

Two agricultural economists of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster have outlined essentials of a good farm lease. It should provide for and allow, profitable farming and give a fair division of returns between landowner and operator. A lease also should provide for a system of farming that will maintain or increase the productivity of the farm, give some security of tenure, and be in writing.

The economists, J. L. Falconer and H. R. Moore, have published their recommendations in a research bulletin titled, "Ohio Farm Leases." They obtained their data from a study of more than 2,000 rental arrangements in the state.

In addition to a detailed study of the five essentials, the bulletin discusses methods of renting land, cash vs. share renting, provisions of Ohio farm leases, a fair division of returns, and ways to keep up the level of productivity. An appendix also gives actual samples of farm leases.

Residents of Ohio may obtain a free copy of the study by writing to the mailing room of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster.

December marks the start of the winter build-up of cattle lice, T. H. Parks, Ohio State University extension entomologist, reminds farmers. The louse problem is worst in winter and early spring, he added.

Parks advised farmers to inspect their cattle now rather than wait until animal rubbing and bare patches on necks and backs mean loss in weight and milk production. The experienced eye can detect the presence of lice by their effect on the animal and the condition of the hair.

Spraying cattle thoroughly with methoxychlor, rotenone, or lindane will kill lice. The specialist recommended 1 to 3 gallons of spray for each mature animal. The smaller amount is adequate for short-haired animals.

To mix the sprays, use 1.2 pound of 50 percent methoxychlor in 6 gallons of water or 8 pounds in 100 gallons of water. It takes 2 ounces of powdered 5 percent derris root or cube root rotenone in 6 gallons of water to kill lice or 2 pounds in 100 gallons. One ounce of 25 percent lindane powder in 6 gallons of water or 1 pound in 100 gallons of water will control the lice.

Parks said that in most cases it is necessary to re-treat in 15 days since the treatment isn't entirely effective against louse eggs.

Applications made in December should solve the louse problem for winter and spring. A hand or compressed air sprayer is satisfactory for treating a few animals, but a high pressure power sprayer is needed for large herds.

A 10 percent dust of methoxychlor or a commercial mixture of rotenone and sulfur dust is satisfactory if rubbed thoroughly into the hair. Ten percent DDT dust can be used on animals where their milk isn't used by humans. Parks suggested 6 to 8 ounces of dust per animal.

He cautioned farmers to use the materials and dosage recommended and not to experiment with other materials nor increase the dosage over that given.

Gasoline Tax Fund Divided By State

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio auditor's office has reported a final distribution of $3,888,637 in gasoline tax funds to municipalities, counties and townships.

Each of Ohio's 88 counties received $10,000 and each township got $400. Cities and villages received a total of $2,475,037.

The third distribution of 1954 motor vehicle license funds will be made this month. It will total $5,838,122 with municipalities receiving about 34 percent.

Gasoline tax and motor vehicle license money go into street maintenance and repair funds of municipalities and into the road and bridge fund of counties.

Hal Boyle Says:

He Flings Bulls And Ditties

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a difficult thing for a man in a ring to sword a maddened bull to death. But, senior, it is even more difficult on the nerves for this same man to slay an American night club audience with no weapon but his baritone voice.

Manuel Capetillo swears this is so. Manuel, who is one of Mexico's top matadors, now has a new career. When the bulls are out of season, he belts out Mexican ditties in night clubs.

Although he has been a big hit in his first New York appearance, Manuel says he still finds it easier work to face a bull than a cafe society audience.

"The nerves I get fighting the bulls, they are different from the nerves I get when I am singing," he explained.

"When I fight a bull I am not singing. I may feel sick three days before a bull fight and three days after, but I don't have the nerves when I am actually facing the bull."

Manuel is an extraordinarily talented man. He is a charro (Mexican blue-blooded cowboy), a bullfighter, a movie actor and a vocalist. In his own land he is a kind of combined Joe DiMaggio, Roy Rogers and Perry Como.

Yet Capetillo, who has killed 400 bulls and been badly gored five times in the ring, is still only 28. He is slender, 6 feet 2, dark-eyed and handsome.

He makes up to $10,000 a bullfight. It is an industry in which the upkeep is greater than the initial expense. His costumes cost him up to $15,000 a season. The heavy, gold-braided matador's outfit he wears in his night club routine weighs about 20 pounds and cost him more than $7,000.

Capetillo says he has been fighting bulls and singing as long as he can remember. He is largely a self-taught matador and started learning the tricks of the trade as a boy of 5 waving capes at calves on his father's ranch.

"I never took a professional bullfighting lesson or singing lesson in my life," he said. He became a matador at 22, hopes to stay in the field until he is 35, or even 40, if his nerves hold out.

"I want to sing and fight the bulls as long as I can," he said simply. "It is my life."

It is not the legs that go first, as it is with a baseball player, when he no longer can control his nervous system. Somehow the bull seems able to sense this.

Despite the terrible thigh scars left on his body by the five bulls who outpointed him, Manuel says he has no particular fear once he enters the ring.

"For a moment, when you first see the bull, you have a feeling like a martyr and wonder why you are there," he explained. Then the action starts, and there is no time for feelings.

"I do not eat the day of a fight, and it is very good to have a quick glass of cognac to settle the stomach before entering the ring," Manuel added.

The bull doesn't get any cognac. He is not supposed to be nervous. After the fight, Manuel is voraciously hungry. He and his retinue like big steaks, sometimes provided by his late opponent in the ring.

It is the same way with Manuel just before he goes out to the spotlight on a supper club floor.

"A couple of small glasses of wine are very good to settle the stomach," he said.

The only other thing that makes Manuel nervous is girls. He is a bachelor.

"And I intend to stay this way all my life," he said frankly.

Removing Half Of Brain Aid To Epileptics

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Philadelphia surgeon explained how he has been successfully treating stubborn cases of epilepsy and similar kinds of fits by removing half of the brains of children.

One side or the other of the brain is taken out and the cavity is filled with a salt water solution. Eventually body tissues absorb the solution and half the skull remains empty.

The youngsters do not lose any of their intelligence and their fits and antisocial behavior disappear, said Dr. Eugene P. Spitz, of Children's Hospital, Philadelphia.

Dr. Spitz made the report for delivery to the Radiological Society of North America, organization of specialists who work with X-rays and other forms of radiation. The operation is made possible by X-ray pictures showing which half of the brain is affected.

This surgical feat is not new but it had been tried heretofore only in a limited way. Dr. Spitz reported on 16 such operations. Not all of his little patients lived, but in every case, he said, the seizures stopped immediately.

Some of the newer drugs can control effectively 85 percent of these afflictions, which are known medically as convulsive seizures. But the other 15 percent remain in serious trouble. They not only have fits but some of them behave violently. Dr. Spitz told of one who attacked a playmate with a butcher knife. Others were sadistic or unduly aggressive.

Continuing Probe Of Poll Planned

COLUMBUS (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown plans a continuing investigation of election errors and claimed irregularities to determine whether they involved fraud.

He asked the state controlling board for $10,000 to hire additional help for the inquiry and another $2,000 for travel expenses. The board withheld action on the request pending a detailed report by Brown on his investigation plans at its meeting next week.

Is There ONE BEST TIME To Buy a Memorial?

Yes, when all the family is around to take part in this important decision. Today the common-sense of pre-need memorial buying is accepted and acted upon all over the country... people are erecting beautiful family memorials before a single piece of ground is actually needed for burial.

You, too, might consider the wisdom of this way of buying a memorial. Visit our display lot across from Forest Cemetery.

2. Suppose Alger Hiss wishes to prove that he was not a Communist, not a spy for Soviet Russia, but that he served his government in a special manner at the request, let us say, of the President of the United States. I do not know that there is the slightest truth in such a hypothesis or that Alger Hiss wants to do anything of the sort. But suppose he does, has anyone the moral right to deprive him of the freedom to fight for his name, his place in the world, even to his dying day, only because he was employed by the Government of the United States?

If imposed conformity is wrong for a university professor, it is wrong for a general, an admiral or anybody. If imposed conformity is wrong for those who call themselves liberals or progressives, it is wrong for those who call themselves conservatives or moderates or nothing at all. If it is wrong for anybody, it is wrong for everybody.

It is more important that we have overt differences of opinion with ample opportunity for their expression than that we suffer from the suppressive effects of conformity and unity. When we have an intelligent goose-step in this country, it may eliminate all the yak-yak of contentment, but we shall no longer be a thinking or a free people. We shall worship those in office as the German people cringe before any man in a uniform.
